

Senate Defeats Majority Rule to Curb Filibusters

Rejects Plan Offered by Sen. Douglas

Washington — (AP) — The senate today voted down a proposal to let filibusters against civil rights bills and other measures be cut off by vote of a bare majority of the senators. The vote was 67 to 28.

The defeated proposal was offered by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) in behalf of a coalition of northern and western senators fighting a formula sponsored by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas).

The Douglas plan would have permitted a majority of the senate, or 50 of the 96 members, to halt a filibuster, after 15 days. Under present rules, it takes the votes of 66 senators, or two-thirds of the membership, to shut off debate and force an issue to a vote.

Johnson's proposal, which has the support of other senate leaders of both parties, would allow filibusters to be choked off by two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

Another Proposal

With the defeat of the Douglas amendment, its supporters planned to throw their strength behind an amendment under which filibusters could be choked by three-fifths of the senators present and voting.

They insisted that this amendment, proposed by Sen. Thurston Morton (R-Ky.), stood a real chance of adoption. However, senators backing the Johnson compromise were confident that it would prevail.

During the debate Johnson told Douglas that he believed all senators feared the Illinois senator's proposed rules change, although some were prepared to vote for it.

In the final speech before the vote, Douglas called Johnson's proposal "a meaningless gesture" and said "it's effect will be to fool the American people into thinking they are getting something when they are getting nothing at all."

Johnson interrupted to say he never had called it a compromise. He pointed out that it had 40 sponsors.

The senate met at 10 a.m., two hours early, in an effort to get the dispute out of the way.

Roads in Europe Blocked by Heaviest Snowfall of Winter

London — (AP) — The heaviest snowfalls of Europe's winter blocked highways, stranded travelers and marooned whole communities today.

Snow lay over all Britain and almost all of the continent.

Britain, whipped by blizzards in the north and floods in lowlying East Anglia, seemed to have caught the worst of it. Abandoned cars, trucks and buses were scattered on roads up and down the country.

Near Braemore an expectant mother and four other occupants of a stranded bus hiked to safety across 2½ miles of snowdrifts sometimes six feet deep.

Snowplows battled their way along the Perth-Braemore road to rescue 60 skiers trapped all night in a resort.

Early morning snow covered London's streets, but was soon ground into slush by the wheels of vehicles.

Across the channel, the rest of Europe shivered too.

Belgium lay completely covered with snow. The north of Italy froze.

Congregation Backs Pastor In Controversy

Whitehall — (AP) — The Rev. Richard Buege was confirmed as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church here Sunday.

Members of the congregation voted 90-17 to retain Pastor Buege.

A committee of Wisconsin Lutheran Synod leaders earlier this month informed Pastor Buege that he could not remain a synod member unless he conformed to the group's rules.

The latest controversy concerning Pastor Buege involved his extending the right to vote on church matters to women in the congregation, contrary to synod rules. The synod committee also had objected to Pastor Buege's communion "fellowship" with Lutheran clergymen of other synods. The term connotes association in religious activities.

Pastor Buege said that the congregation is still a part of the Wisconsin Synod but could be dismissed by the church council.

The meeting was attended by 118 of the 191 congregation members. Eleven abstained from voting and six couples withdrew from membership after the vote. Two synod officials met with dissident couples outside the church.

Governor Proposes Four Major Reforms

Nelson Begins Reorganization, Would Consolidate Agencies

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson summoned principal state department heads at an early hour today to explain that he meant what he said during his campaign when he proposed extensive reforms in the management and organization of key state services.

The department heads arose about dawn and were assembled in the executive office at 7:30 a.m. The new governor turned up, a scant week after his swearing in, to outline his plan for extensive state administrative reorganization and management changes he described as intended to make state operations more efficient and more responsive to elected officials including the governor and the legislature.

Four Reforms

Nelson said flatly the existing 79 agencies are too numerous, that budget making has been sloppy and that in spite of repeated boasts over the years, the Wisconsin administration is not as efficient as those of some other states.

In what he called a preliminary report he demanded four major reforms, including:

1. The consolidation of half a dozen legislative services into a new department of legislative services that would remain exclusively under the control of the legislature.
2. Consolidation of major business and finance services into a new department of administration and finance.
3. A self survey program of management audits, under the direction of the governor's office, to review continuously the efficiency and economy of state operation.
4. What he called a program type budget process "to permit a more intelligent planning and supervision of state spending."

Nelson also warned again that he intends to put departments on a 1-year spending plan, that the first year budget of his term will be an economy budget because of the revenue problem, and that second year budget requests will be closely reviewed after the legislature adjourns next summer.

Expenses Rise

He noted that for the first time state departments during his term will spend substantially more than a billion dollars a year, and that recently state expenses have been rising at a rate of $120 million yearly.

Nelson spoke quietly and in a conciliatory fashion as he described his purposes and

Mother of 8 Seized in Kidnaping; Baby Alive

Suspect Denies Guilt But Chionchio Infant Identified Beyond Doubt

New York — (AP) — A mother of eight children was booked today on a kidnap charge, a few hours after 10-day-old Lisa Chionchio was found unharmed and well in a Brooklyn apartment.

The woman, identified as Mrs. Jeane Iavarone, 43, was booked at Brooklyn 82nd precinct police station on Butler street, after stubbornly proclaiming her innocence throughout the night.

"There is no doubt, on the basis of scientific evidence, that she took the child," said Chief Assistant Dist. Atty. J. Kenneth McCabe.

He said the infant, snatched from St. Peter's hospital nursery shortly after she was born Jan. 2, had apparently been kept in Mrs. Iavarone's furnished flat in Brooklyn ever since.

"So far as we know she never left the house with the child," McCabe said.

The woman quit her $45-a-week job as a credit department clerk in a Brooklyn department store on the day the baby disappeared, police said.

Officials said the woman claims she gave birth to the child herself that night alone in her second floor apartment at 99 St. Mark's avenue.

"She insists the baby is hers," McCabe said.

Identical Footprints

However, he added, footprints of the kidnaped girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Chionchio, and that of the recovered baby are identical.

He also said a small mark on the baby's left eyelid, described by the father, showed

Never Gave Up Hope

Baby's Return Called Answer to Prayers

BY BERNARD GAVZER

New York — (AP) — "I never gave up hope that Lisa would be found. My first faith was in God. My second in the FBI and the police."

These were the words of a jubilant mother, Mrs. Frances Chionchio, for whom nine days of anxiety and agony ended early today with the safe recovery of her kidnaped infant daughter.

The 26-year-old high school teacher, who has been on maternity leave, said she first learned the baby was found alive and healthy from her husband, Frank, who telephoned from St. Peter's hospital about 5:30 a.m.

She said she didn't know when she would be reunited with her child, but as long as she knew the baby was being cared for, she could wait — at least for a while.

Holiday Atmosphere

Chionchio, 28, a port au-Prince, Haiti, lawyer, had been called to the hospital for identification of the infant, missing since the night of Jan. 2 when she was kidnaped 2½ hours after birth.

Chionchio said he recognized his daughter immediately. He had only seen her once, shortly after birth. "She has a birthmark over her left eye," he said, "but I really recognized her by her beautiful feet and hands."

A holiday atmosphere pervaded the house — a 2-story

Pilots' Strike At American Brought to End

Some Jet Fliers To Earn $28,440 Under Contract

Washington — (AP) — American Airlines planned to resume half its flights today under a new contract that could earn $28,440 a year for some jet pilots.

The contract, approved yesterday, ended the last in a series of national airline strikes.

Since October, walkouts have disrupted flights by Eastern Air Lines, Trans World Airlines, Capital Airlines and American at various times. Among major domestic lines, only United Airlines was unaffected.

After the 22-day American strike ended, the company immediately started partial service. A full schedule of flights was expected tomorrow.

Boosts and Retroactive Pay

The Air Line Pilots association, which called the strike against American, estimated the settlement would net its 1,500 pilots a 15 per cent pay increase and a total of $5 million in retroactive pay. The contract dates back to August, 1957.

A union spokesman said the captain of a Boeing-707 jet, which American plans to start using later this month, could earn $28,440 a year. A Convair captain, the spokesman added, could earn $17,892 a year. The old contract would have given him $15,288 a year.

American, before the strike began Dec. 19, had offered a pay increase of 10 per cent, the union spokesman said.

The new contract also provides a third pilot for jet crews. Current piston plane crews comprise two pilots and one flight engineer.

The strike cost an estimated loss of $33 million to the company, its suppliers and their employees.

Kills Wife and 2 of 4 Children

Maitland, Fla. — (AP) — A 40-year-old man hacked to death his wife and two of his four children at their home early today. Sheriff Luther Hodges reported.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Ruth Higgins, 37; Richard, 8; and Bryan, 12.

The father, Harry Higgins, 40, who came here from Waltham, Mass., about six months ago, was taken to Seminole county jail in Sanford. He is a technical writer for the Martin company at Orlando. Sheriff Luther Hodges said he would be charged with murder.

Executions in Cuba Increase

50 Batista Backers Killed; Nearly 3,000 Face Trials

Havana — (AP) — Executions of the followers of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista are mounting in Cuba as the forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro continue hurried military trials.

Thus far about 50 Batista supporters have been executed. Nearly 3,000 are awaiting trial.

Asked on a U.S. television program yesterday why the Batista followers were being executed without open trials, Castro said: "There were not so many . . . Two or three dozen criminals."

"They were judged," he said, adding that "if anyone killed 15 or 30 people, he was no right to live."

The interview was recorded in Havana Saturday.

Correspondent Jules Dubois of the Chicago Tribune reported that the mutilated bodies of 160 anti-Batista prisoners were found yesterday in a mass grave on the outskirts of San Cristobal, 60 miles west of Havana.

Military authorities in Manzanillo announced yesterday that Cubans will not be allowed to witness the firing squad executions of Batista supporters, but they will be allowed to see the bodies afterward.

Cardinal Cushing Scores Mikoyan

Boston — (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston has criticized Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan as a "bloody henchman in the murderous crimes committed by Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev."

The Catholic prelate said Saturday night Mikoyan's crimes include "the massacres of his own free Armenian republic, the Ukrainian massacres of 1932-33 and the Hungarian massacres of 1956."

5-Vehicle Tangle Hospitalizes Six

Car in Ditch, Second Stops To Aid, Third, Fourth Crash

A 5-vehicle tangle which stemmed from a 1-car accident about 1:30 a.m. today on County Trunk JJ about 1 mile west of Highway 55 sent six people to Kaukauna Community hospital. None was hurt seriously.

Starting the chain of events was Roger Driessen, 18, 1023 E. Maine street, Little Chute, who told county police he lost control of his father's 1958 car and ended in the ditch. He went to seek aid from his uncle, Peter Driessen, 58, route 1, Kaukauna.

Peter Driessen drove his 1958 truck to the scene and left it parked along the road while he went home to get a chain.

At this point Eugene Vandehy, 27, 905 W. Main street, Little Chute, stopped to offer help. He parked his 1955 car along the road to shine his car lights on the scene.

Along came Charles Mann, 42, Oshkosh street, Hortonville, in his 1953 car and hit Vandehy's car. Right behind him came Eugene F. Vandenberg, 23, route 1, Kaukauna, in his 1955 car and struck the tangle.

County Policemen Stanley Arnold and Calvin Spice estimated damage at $1,600 to Driessen's car, $900 to Vandehy's car, $350 to Mann's and $100 to Vandenberg's. It could not be determined, police said, if the Driessen truck was involved in the crash.

Injured Listed

Roger Driessen received shoulder injuries. His passengers were Carolyn Pennings, 17, 608 Harrison street, Little Chute, leg injuries, and Thomas Vandehy, 17, 905 E. Main street, Little Chute, shock.

In Eugene Vandehy's car, Vandehy received a bruised leg, Edward Schuler, 42, Van Buren street, Little Chute, a leg injury, and James Hammond, 25, Vandenberg street, Little Chute, a bruised leg and knee.

Mann received a cut chin, chest injuries, knee bruises and back injuries. Vandenberg was not hurt.

Bernard H. Rolf, 27, 918 Cass street, Kaukauna, stopped by the scene. Authorities said he used abusive language to a county policeman. It was found Rolf had no valid driver's license and he was taken to the county jail and charged with disorderly conduct. Rolf remains in jail today.

In another weekend crash, Michael Propson, 19, route 1, Hilbert, received cuts to his head and Victor Propson, 41, same address, received back injuries when their car failed to negotiate a curve on a town road about five miles southwest of Seymour about 5:45 p.m. Sunday. Propson told county police his car skidded on slippery pavement.

Eugene E. LeFevre First Applicant for Vacant Council Chair

Eugene E. LeFevre, 54, 708 N. State street, has become the first official candidate for the unexpired term of former Third ward Ald. Harvey Priebe, Sr.

Priebe, 18-year council veteran, resigned last week because he moved from the city to the town of Grand Chute.

LeFevre, one of three men who have taken nomination papers for election in April to a regular 2-year term as Third ward alderman, filed formal application for the interim appointment at city hall Friday.

Councilmen will elect a successor to Priebe Jan. 21.

Appleton Man, Wife Get 30-Day Jail Sentences

Oshkosh — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Newcomer, route 1, Appleton, each were sentenced to 30 days in the Winnebago county jail by Judge S. J. Luchsinger in municipal court this morning. Mrs. Newcomer was charged with receiving stolen property.

She admitted taking three dresses, valued at $22.94, from the W. T. Grant store in Oshkosh between 5 and 6 p.m. last Friday. Her husband returned the dresses to the store about 6 p.m. that day and received a cash refund.

He told Judge Luchsinger he did not know the dresses had been stolen but he did plead guilty of receiving stolen property.

Approve Ike's Message

Byrnes, Laird Liked State of Union Talk

BY FRANCES McKUSICK Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Rep. John Byrnes, Green Bay, chairman of the powerful Republican policy committee seemed well pleased with the president's message on the state of the union.

Mr. Eisenhower's "strong emphasis upon the urgency of overcoming the problem of inflation and his stress upon the need for meeting our obligations within a balanced budget" seemed to have an "A" priority in Mr. Byrnes' opinion.

"The president properly emphasized a basic truth which may have been lost sight of, namely, that it is the congress which controls the nations purse strings and that it is the congress which has the prime responsibility for keeping spending within safe bounds," declared Byrnes.

"Our nation will not be basically strong if congress spends us irresponsibly into a merciless inflation," he continued. "The prime task of this congress will be to provide our nation with a fiscal base for its manifold operations in the years ahead. The president has made clear that he will cooperate with the congress to this end."

Byrnes also is a member of the house ways and means committee which originates all types of tax legislation to provide the revenue needed to finance the operation of the government.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, a member of the appropriations committee, declared that the president's message was a "complete rejection of the liberal philosophy of spending and deficit finance. It is encouraging to see the president clearly setting forth the traditional Republican doctrine of fiscal responsibility."

Alderman Offers Plan for Name of High Level Bridge

A plan for naming the College-Candee high bridge has been filed at city hall by Ald. Thomas K. Schneider.

He would have the bridge called "College Avenue Bridge" by renaming E. Candee street, the south approach street, "E. College avenue."

That portion of E. Candee which lies north of S. Walter avenue could and should keep its present "E. Candee" label, he believes.

People trying to find addresses in the short block, Schneider explains, always have had trouble because of its peculiar location. Renaming of the approach section not only would pave the way for the bridge name, but would clear up another problem, he says.

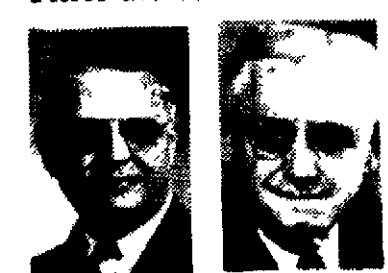

Class Precedence Schneider noted all bridges now are named after approach streets (Memorial drive, S. Oneida street, S. Lawe street, E. John street) and the city had to change the name of the south approach to the E. John street bridge from Maple Grove street to avoid confusion.

City Park Board Reelects Jones, Johnson to Posts

The park board has reelected President George E. Johnson, 214 River drive, and Sec. Arthur W. Jones, 704 S. Pierce avenue.

Johnson Jones

Erik L. Madisen, 1623 N. Durkee street, was elected to a new position, vice president.

Other board members are Dr. R. R. Lally, 716 W. Front street, and William H. Wachtendonk, 908 N. Harriman street.

Johnson was appointed to the board by the mayor and council June 21, 1950; Jones, May 1, 1942; Madisen and Dr. Lally, Dec. 1, 1937, and Wachtendonk, Jan. 1 this year.

Wachtendonk was named to replace Jones and Jones to replace Edwin B. Rachow, who retired in December after 27 years service, but with two years to go on his current appointment.

Nelson Asks For 4 Major State Reforms

The department chiefs who listened included members who are Republican appointees and who are wondering whether the new governor will keep them in service as their terms expire soon. Others recognized the reorganization as proposed will mean a considerable shakeup in the officer list at the state capital and may effect the job security of some of them.

The attendance was good at what Nelson said would be the first of a series of Monday morning conferences to discuss mutual problems of the department and the new state executive.

Spoke Quietly
The governor said he knows the state has faithful state employees and officers but he added:

"With these assets, it is unfortunate that the state's overall organization and management system has been allowed to deteriorate to its present condition. The essential ingredient which has been missing is political and executive leadership. The governorship is the one position in the state that has ultimate responsibility for administration and can offer effective leadership in management improvement."

Nelson said he was pleased that so many department heads vindicated his criticisms by their own remarks at his recent budget hearing. The reorganization plan was made public by Nelson during his successful campaign but attracted little attention then.

Subject To Approval
It is subject to the approval of the legislature to which Nelson will submit it, he explained, after it is thoroughly reviewed at departmental meetings.

The two men emphasized the plan is only the first of a succession of possible major changes in the state government structure. Nussbaum said the state agencies badly need coordination and that the department heads know it.

In repeating his intention to present a budget that will cut many additional spending requests of state services large and small, Nelson commented:

"This may cut deeply, and for what it is worth, I am sympathetic. I assure the cuts won't be arbitrary, but we haven't got the money and we don't know whether the legislature will be willing to raise the revenues. I know that nobody is going to be satisfied with the budget he gets."

The legislature, under divided Republican and Democratic control, will go into session Wednesday to consider the demands for legislation of the new Democratic state administration.

Royalty Forced To Take Rooms in Fishermen's Inn

London — Prince Philip and young Prince Charles had to take refuge in a 3-bedroom fishermen's inn over the weekend when their own hunting lodge got flooded.

Britain's 10-year-old future king, his father and several friends were shooting wild fowl on the Norfolk broads, a network of waterways cutting through a desolate east coast swamp.

The party planned to stay at Whiteslea lodge, a luxurious bungalow on an island in the middle of a 600-acre lake. On arrival Friday night, they found a foot of water in the bedrooms.

They went on to the nearby Pleasure Boat Inn, a fishing place for hunters and fishermen.

"Can you put us up?" Philip asked Landlord Albert Amis and his wife Jean.

The inn's three bedrooms were put at royalty's disposal. Prince Charles shared one with two other young members of the party.

The royal hunters stayed two nights. Local fishermen and yachtsmen drinking beer in the bar below didn't know a thing about it.

measures to remove all errors.

The blueprint for reform is the work of Joe Nussbaum, Nelson's principal assistant and budget advisor who was a member of the state department of budget and accounts until about six months ago.

Nussbaum flanked Nelson at the session this morning and explained some of the details.

The two men emphasized the plan is only the first of a succession of possible major changes in the state government structure. Nussbaum said the state agencies badly need coordination and that the department heads know it.

In repeating his intention to present a budget that will cut many additional spending requests of state services large and small, Nelson commented:

"This may cut deeply, and for what it is worth, I am sympathetic. I assure the cuts won't be arbitrary, but we haven't got the money and we don't know whether the legislature will be willing to raise the revenues. I know that nobody is going to be satisfied with the budget he gets."

The legislature, under divided Republican and Democratic control, will go into session Wednesday to consider the demands for legislation of the new Democratic state administration.

Royalty Forced To Take Rooms in Fishermen's Inn

London — Prince Philip and young Prince Charles had to take refuge in a 3-bedroom fishermen's inn over the weekend when their own hunting lodge got flooded.

Britain's 10-year-old future king, his father and several friends were shooting wild fowl on the Norfolk broads, a network of waterways cutting through a desolate east coast swamp.

The party planned to stay at Whiteslea lodge, a luxurious bungalow on an island in the middle of a 600-acre lake. On arrival Friday night, they found a foot of water in the bedrooms.

They went on to the nearby Pleasure Boat Inn, a fishing place for hunters and fishermen.

"Can you put us up?" Philip asked Landlord Albert Amis and his wife Jean.

The inn's three bedrooms were put at royalty's disposal. Prince Charles shared one with two other young members of the party.

The royal hunters stayed two nights. Local fishermen and yachtsmen drinking beer in the bar below didn't know a thing about it.

Mother of 8 Held as Kidnaper; Baby Alive

1st ad mother of 572 p 1 jump the baby was the same one taken.

McCabe and other investigators refused to speculate about motives in the case.

The 5-foot-6 Mrs. Iavarone, a woman with stringy, reddish-blond hair and rosette-tinted fingernails, held the front of her dark coat over her face as she was led from the 84th precinct house, where she had been questioned all night, to the 82nd precinct for booking.

McCabe said Mrs. Iavarone was married in 1933 to John Getch, divorced in 1940 and in 1942 or '43 married Peter Morello in Hoboken, N.J.

He died Dec. 18, 1956, and McCabe said the woman has been living alone. Her children, ranging in age from 3 to 21, are living elsewhere, including four at orphanages or foster homes, McCabe said she uses her maiden name.

An eighth child, of the first marriage, John Robert Getch, 23, died last September.

Helped Dye Hair
McCabe said some of Mrs. Iavarone's children had been born in St. Peter's hospital, from which the Chionchio baby was shipped from beneath the eyes of maternity nurses.

During the night police questioned numerous residents of the vicinity, including neighbors in the building.

One of them was a woman who helped Mrs. Iavarone switch the color of her hair from platinum blonde to its present color with a home bleach treatment, several days ago, McCabe said.

Hospital attendants had described the kidnaper as a silvery blonde. Mrs. Iavarone said she changed the hue because of a personal whim, the prosecutor added.

Mrs. Chionchio's father reflected the compassion the whole family felt for the alleged abductress.

"She must be a good woman for the way she took care of Lisa," Fumo said. He continued:

"Think of what kind of night it was and how well she took care of the baby (the weather was slightly above freezing)."

Very Lonesome
"We don't want anything to happen to that woman."

"She is supposed to have had eight children and seven of them are in a foster home. I don't know why. But she must be very, very lonesome."

"She didn't take the baby for ransom, but because she must need someone."

"I don't think she should get away without punishment, but they ought to help her. Maybe she belongs in a place where she can take care of children, like in a foundling home."

The penalty for kidnapping when the child is recovered alive, is 20 years to life in prison.

Mrs. Iavarone was to be taken to Manhattan's police photographic gallery for photographing and returned later today to Brooklyn felony court.

First positive identification of the baby was announced by the FBI, quoting the father, Frank.

Recognizes Baby
Chionchio, 28, a lawyer for the port of New York authority, said he recognized the baby on the basis of a "general family resemblance" and a small scar over the left eye he had noticed the night the baby was born.

"I feel very happy," Chionchio said as he left the hospital to rejoin his wife, Frances, 26. She has been staying with her parents in Brooklyn.

Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett said the baby "certainly" is the Chionchio child. Leggett indicated the footprint of the baby found in the apartment matched the footprint of the Chionchio baby taken shortly after birth. He said the comparison was "okay."

The blood type of the baby was identical with that of Mrs. Chionchio, the FBI said, but did not correspond to Mrs. Iavarone's.

Leggett said medical examination showed that Mrs. Iavarone did not bear a child nine days ago.

Good Care for Infant
He said the woman took "good care" of the baby. "She had plenty of experience caring for children of her own," he added.

Officials at St. Peter's hospital said the baby weighed seven pounds, one ounce when it was returned to the hospital. The Chionchio infant weighed seven pounds at birth.

Mrs. Iavarone is a bleached-blond 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds. In her apartment police found a long black coat with an inverted "V" outlined in black velvet. Both descriptions correspond to accounts given by nurses and a night watchman at the hospital who saw the abductor the night the baby vanished.

Leggett said Mrs. Iavarone had been confronted by 18 witnesses, but declined to say if they had identified her.

Intense Search
Police had been working on the theory that the kidnaper was a frustrated mother who took the baby out of a longing for a child of her own.

For a week a search of an intensity seldom matched in the metropolis went on around the clock. Thousands of tips were checked out, hundreds of persons questioned and many

Wickesberg Gets Probation On Arson Count

Good Past Record Cited as Reason For Court Leniency

Oshkosh — Anton Wickesberg, 47, route 1, Appleton, moving contractor, this morning was placed on probation for three years by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger who stayed execution of an indeterminate term of three years in Waupun State prison.

Wickesberg had pleaded no contest to a charge of arson in the burning of the Log Inn square miles of territory scoured.

A special telephone was set up by police to receive calls from any one who thought he had any information about the case.

It was on this phone that the pay-off tip was delivered. H. G. Foster, special agent in charge of the New York FBI office, said it was "a heartwarming experience to see the close cooperation between the police department and the FBI."

He praised newspapers for having "played a very important part in this case."

Formula Published
Many newspapers published the formula the baby was supposed to be fed in her first days of life.

Clues were scarce during the search. The baby's hospital garments, all except the diaper, were found the day after the kidnapping in a vacant Brooklyn store.

Two days later, an ominous note was found pinned to a diaper in a Brooklyn subway station. It said: "Please return to St. Peter's hospital. Didn't want to hurt anyone. Everything is so hard. Tired. Sick. The ocean looks so inviting, maybe I will find peace. I tried to keep her warm. Dear God, forgive me."

The unsigned note aroused fears that the baby might not be alive, but the search continued in all its intensity, in all its agony until its happy ending last night.

tavern on Highway 41 in the town of Menasha Aug. 15. Wickesberg had the building up on jacks ready to be moved to a site on Lake Butte des Morts, when he decided his contract with the Meyer corporation to move the building was "not right for me the way I understood it" and set fire to the building. The building and land had been purchased by the state to make room for the Highway 41 relocation project and the building had been purchased from the state for $2,700 by the Power Boat club of Oshkosh for a clubhouse. Replacement value of the building was estimated between $45,000 and $50,000.

Orders Restitution
Deputy State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe, Brillion, arrested Wickesberg Dec. 2 after an investigation.

Judge Luchsinger ordered Wickesberg to make a just restitution within a reasonable time. The judge said presentence investigation showed Wickesberg was a hard-working family man, financially stable, active in his community and his church. He had no previous criminal record and only a poor contract for moving the Log Inn caused him such distress he set fire to the building without premeditation, the judge said.

His attorney, Allan Cain, Kaukauna, pointed out Wickesberg had accepted an oral contract and later signed a written contract to move the building and then found the written contract had terms which he felt were unfavorable. Wickesberg thought the Meyer corporation was to move electric wires over the highway in the moving of the building.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber and Wickesberg's references all recommended probation.

Rockefeller's Son Enlists in Army

New York — Steven Rockefeller, 22-year-old son of Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is in the army as an enlistee under the reserve training program.

He was sworn into the army yesterday at the reserve corps center, then went to Fort Dix, N. J., with other inductees.

The schedule calls for eight weeks of basic training at Fort Dix and then assignment to other duties for four months. After six months of active duty, young Rockefeller will return to civilian life but will be subject to call in the reserve for 5½ years.

brick dwelling in the Borough park section of Brooklyn. It is the home of the mother's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tumo, where Mrs. Chionchio has been staying.

Friends and relatives poured in. They embraced the Chionchios and each other, many of them had stayed with Mrs. Chionchio during the week's anxious hours.

Prayed Constantly
Mrs. Chionchio, a teacher of French and Spanish at McKinley High school, said that since the baby's disappearance, she has worn a rosary around her left wrist and prayed almost constantly.

"I made novenas to almost every saint you can think of," she said.

The baby was found on the ninth day of her novenas.

She said a few years ago, she had made a novena for the return of her husband's lost law school ring. It, too, was found and returned on the ninth day, she said.

Most of the gathering, including the Chionchios, had been awake since they went to church yesterday morning. When reports circulating last night indicated a break in the case might be imminent, they stayed up through the night.

Sympathy for Kidnaper
Chionchio kept urging his wife to get some sleep this morning.

She replied, "Last week, I didn't sleep for two days and nights in misery. I sure can stay awake two days and nights in joy."

The father said he had not seen Mrs. Jean Iavarone, the 43-year-old widow in whose apartment his daughter was found.

"But I sympathize with her feelings and her longings," he said. "We still feel that she can come see the baby if she wants. We always felt this way. If she was so affectionate to care for her, she deserves to be able to see our baby."

While the baby was missing, the Chionchios appealed often to the kidnaper to return her and promised they would be willing to let the woman visit the child afterward.

The Chionchios have one other child, Gerardette, and the one-year-old blonde was paraded before the happy visitors to the Tumo home.

Boy, 7, Must Face a Life Of Blindness

Natchez, Miss. — Hugh Thornhill, a small boy with the nerve of a man, will turn seven Thursday. But it'll be a sad birthday, passed quietly in his hospital bed.

For Hugh, it marks the start of a life of blindness. Doctors will remove his diseased left eye the day before his birthday. They took out his right eye in 1955.

Hugh—the son of a roofing plant worker—suffers from congenital glaucoma, a disease which builds up pressure in the eyeball and destroys sight.

Physicians first started operating on and treating his right eye when he was about three. But the effects were futile and Hugh lost that eye. They operated unsuccessfully on his remaining eye six times in the past three years. But now the left eye must come out.

His mother, Mrs. Louis Thornhill, says Hugh has been told he will be blind the rest of his life, but he is still in wonderful spirits.

Four Teens Die In Texas Crash

Groesbeck, Texas — Four teenagers were killed late last night when the car in which they were returning from a party overturned just inside the city limits of this central Texas town.

Killed were Leslie Anthony Popejoy, 14; Cloman Bonner Oakes, 17; and Joe Earl Fitts, 17. Sammy E. Sherrod, Jr., 16, the driver of the car, died in Groesbeck several hours after the accident. All were residents of Groesbeck.

The fifth occupant of the car, Danny Joe Brulson, 13, also of Groesbeck, was slightly injured.

Highway Fatalities Show Reductions

Safety Experts Guessing About Causes of Lowest Figures in Years

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The most dramatic reduction in highway fatalities in 15 years has the traffic safety experts guessing about the causes.

Last year better driving on Wisconsin roads brought about the saving of 99 lives. The 1958 fatality total stood at a sobering 820 at the year's end. But it was the lowest figure in seven years. It compared with a loss of 919 lives in 1957, and an all-time high total of 955 in 1956.

While the specific causes are difficult to assign, it is clear, say the experts, that Wisconsin has made significant progress in educating the driver to his responsibilities on the public roads.

The public has begun to accept fatalistically the idea that the traffic death toll would increase each year with the multiplication of vehicles and drivers, and the steady increases in the mileage accumulated by each vehicle.

It has now been shown that many of those deaths of other years were preventable.

Many Causes

"The drivers of our state are becoming educated to the need for safe driving," says R. C. Salisbury, head of the state traffic safety division who has labored in the life-saving cause for more than 20 years.

The causes for the happy improvement?

They are many. Highway traffic is a complex affair, involving many elements, mechanical and human.

Some close observers of traffic problems believe the single most effective safety legislation of recent years was the installation of the driver demerit point system a few years ago. It was a built-in education device, reminding each motorist constantly of the perils of law violation and carelessness.

Others incline to believe that the stronger enforcement program has been a heavily influential factor. They point to the fact, for example, that the life-saving record is most dramatic on the rural state highways, which are largely patrolled by the enlarged and intensively trained state traffic patrol.

But there are other factors, their importance not susceptible to easy measurement, but regarded as extremely helpful by the specialists who make it their daily business to study the morbid traffic safety field.

Wisconsin now has improved driver license examinations.

Comments Salisbury: "Driver license applicants have undoubtedly been impressed by the uniform procedures and examination standards made possible by this change in licensing policy. The percentage of failure among original applicants is much higher than it was in previous years."

Marking and signing of the highways have been improved. New highways have been designed for safer use. There are now driving courses in most of the high schools of the state. Larger communities have schools for traffic law violators, where "students" enroll at the direction of traffic court judges.

The fundamental goal of the safety program in its many aspects is the education of the individual behind the wheel.

"An educated driver tends to become a safer driver," comments Salisbury, who probably knows more about the factors in traffic safety than any other Wisconsin specialist in the field.

U. S. Paying Debt With Education

Manila — The American people are paying off a war debt with free education in the Philippines.

Through U.S. public law 84-634, the War Orphans Education act, they are financing the college or vocational training of more than a thousand young Filipino men and women in island institutions of learning.

These young Filipinos, 18-23 years old, are the sons and daughters of fathers who served in the U.S. armed forces in World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict. Their fathers died either during service or from disease or injury received in or aggravated by military service during wartime.

Orphans of persons who served only in the Philippine commonwealth army or in guerrilla forces are not eligible. The educational benefit applies only to kin of regular members of the U.S.

The Manila office of the U.S. veterans administration administers the law in the Philippines. It counsels the student into enrolling in subjects generally accepted as necessary to reach a specific goal.

This may include becoming a doctor or lawyer or attaining a vocation such as bookkeeping or technical work.

All training given under the War Orphans Education act must be in schools. The law does not permit on-the-job training, correspondence courses, or courses in any vocational or recreational subjects.

Mr. Coolidge's Contribution

The effort of the Teamsters union to unionize the New York police apparently has fizzled. Some will say the failure was due to the ineptness of Henry Feinstein who directed the attempt to organize the police. Others will give credit to Mayor Robert Wagner and Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, both of whom made a firm stand against Feinstein.

Feinstein was not only inept; he was also vulnerable. He is an employee of the borough of Manhattan and was threatened with the loss of his $8,500 city job if he persisted in the organization plan. Feinstein had announced plans to picket the police commissioner and to freeze him out of his office by preventing the delivery of heating oil through his control of the trucks handled by Teamsters. James R. Hoffa, the conditional president of the Teamsters union, saw that Feinstein was headed for trouble and countermanded the order.

It may be, however, that in handing out credit for stopping this effort to control the New York police a bouquet should be tossed in the direction of the late Calvin Coolidge. On Sept. 9, 1919 newspaper headlines reported that the Boston police had gone on strike. On Sept. 11 President Woodrow Wilson called the Boston police strike "a crime against civilization." On that same day Gov. Coolidge of Massachusetts took command at Boston. The militia shot three persons but the police strike continued. On Sept. 13 the police commissioner of Boston declared the places of 1,127 policemen who were on strike vacant and took steps to replace them immediately with returned war veterans under permanent appointment. While the Boston militia guarded the city, striking police were classed as deserters and refused reinstatement despite a plea from President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor. On Sept. 21 Boston unions decided against a general strike to back the striking police. It was during that period that Gov. Coolidge wired Gompers this message: "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody anywhere, any time."

It was this message that brought Coolidge's name before the Republican national convention in 1920 where he received 34 votes for president and was nominated for vice president. He was elected to the office and succeeded to the presidency on the death of President Harding Aug. 2, 1923. He was reelected by a huge majority in 1924.

We have no doubt whatever that the Coolidge story was very helpful in giving Mayor Wagner of New York some of the courage required to stand out against representatives of labor in this fight. It is quite likely that it always will be extremely difficult and probably impossible to organize the police of any city into a labor union. Such an attempt always will be opposed by any competent official on the basis of principle and of common sense. Furthermore it probably will always be opposed also on political grounds. No mayor or governor will hesitate to take a stand on this issue so long as the Coolidge story appears to be applicable. The most competent city and state executives believe that there is not only no right to strike but also no right to organize for a strike against the public safety by anybody anywhere, any time.

Motorboating Must be Regulated

Because of the frequent disputes over jurisdiction in enforcing safety regulations on navigable waters in Wisconsin, there will be considerable interest in the recent decision by Judge Donald W. Gleason in Brown county's municipal court. Judge Gleason held that his court has jurisdiction in cases of alleged reckless operation of motorboats on the Fox river within Brown county.

The Fox river is a navigable stream and subject to federal control in some respects. In the Brown county case the attorney for an individual charged with reckless boating alleged that the arrest was unconstitutional and that the state statute did not apply because Congress had retained jurisdiction over such streams as the Fox.

The court's ruling is unusual in that the defendant had withdrawn the challenge of the court's jurisdiction before the trial opened. In such cases courts commonly decline to give an opinion but Judge Gleason said he wanted to make "a specific finding on that point, not only for the record in the present case, but also for its application in similar cases which may arise in the future."

The court said that Section 30.06 of the Wisconsin Statutes, entitled "Safety Regulations for Boats," which is composed of 12 sections is in reality 12 laws. Each of the 12 subsections "is a law by and of its own self" and is applicable to all waters of Wisconsin "with the exception of the limitations worded in each subsection." The decision pointed out that some sections limit the law only to "waters under the exclusive jurisdiction of the state of Wisconsin" and others limited to certain vessels, while still others limit the law to specific waters. Other sections have no limitations and subsection 10, relating to the reckless operation of motorboats, is one of those. The section relates to "any person who shall drive, operate or use a motorboat on the waters of the state in a careless negligent or reckless manner."

From that language the court concluded that "boats operated on all waters in the state are subject to the safety regulations contained" in that section of the law. The court declared that "it is not only competent for the state to make such regulation, but it is a very desirable one, which should be enforced for the protection of the lives and property of all who make use of such waters."

To produce this decision it was necessary to make a study of various opinions of the attorney general and many decisions by the Wisconsin supreme court. In this study note was made of the supreme court's trust doctrine with reference to navigable waters. That doctrine was stated by the court in these words: "The United States never had title, in the Northwest Territory out of which this state was carved, to the beds of lakes, ponds and navigable rivers except in trust for public purposes; and its trust in that regard was transferred to the state, and must there continue forever, so far as necessary to the enjoyment thereof by the people of this commonwealth."

It was not a great step from that doctrine to Judge Gleason's finding that "no person could exercise his right to enjoy the public waters of the state . . . if he were compelled to contend with reckless motorboating."

It is possible that through some action by a higher court it may be held that this decision is not the law, but if that happens some way should be found to write it into the statutes for such a law is needed.

Not So Royal Welcome

President Eisenhower's request to the American people to treat Russian visitor Mikoyan with courtesy is probably something expected of a civilized host nation, but it is definitely unrealistic. Why should new Americans, refugees from terror in Hungary, Rumania, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, East Germany, China, Korea, Yugoslavia and even Russia itself offer courtesy to a leader of the regime which has murdered their families and friends?

Mikoyan is not an official United States guest. He was not invited unless that news has been hushed up in Washington. He requested a visa and was given it. The same would be done for Khrushchev, Mao Tse-tung or Batista. The restrictions on travel for Soviet nationals were lifted for Mikoyan and that was fine — the rules were pretty silly anyway and certainly never stopped a real spy from spying.

Mikoyan may travel as he pleases within the United States during the time limit of his visa. He may visit at homes like that of the Cyrus Eatons where he is welcomed in the hope that it will further good relations with Russia at a time of peril. He may chuck babies under the chin in supermarkets, marvel at packaged steak and doughnuts, sleep in motels, give speeches encouraging trade with his country, smile, impress businessmen and try to influence people. That is a right accorded to every visitor in our land.

But Mikoyan also should take note of the boos and pickets. Our government is reported to have warned Batista not to seek haven in the United States for fear of rebel sympathizers taking a shot at him. Why should Mikoyan get any more courteous treatment from the thousands who hate and despise all he stands for merely because his government has not fallen from power and his nation is bigger and stronger than Cuba?

The demonstrations against Mikoyan may be organized but they are not the mobbery dictated by a particular political party which greeted Vice President Nixon in South America. They are the voice of a free people who, as every baseball fan knows, enjoy booing those of whom they don't approve. And the suave Soviet emissary now offering the carrot bit of the usual Russian tactics rates the boos far more than any empire in the history of sport.

U. S. Finding Destiny in the Dark When Government Run in Secret

From The Miami Herald

"Open covenants openly arrived at" is a good rule for domestic government as well as for foreign treaties.

How it is being honored in the breach rather than in the observance is the theme of "Arms and the State," a private study which alleges that an "elite" of presidential appointees makes the major decisions for the United States affecting the peace of the world.

The charge is grave. As one writer boils it down, "The consistent, though doubtless unplanned effect of Eisenhower administration reforms has been to reduce the popular, the congressional and also the professional military influences over the most critical issues of military and international policy."

How true is this? And, if true, what are its cures? Some slippage must always be allowed in studies such as these for sensationalism, contrived or acquired through excerpting the text — in this case, a text running to 414 pages.

And such charges need documentation. One example is the Dulles policy of "massive retaliation," presented to congress in 1954. It is alleged, as an accomplished fact.

Since no one administration is to blame, an example is cited from the Truman years. This was the President's decision in early 1951 to tell congress that, five months before, he had agreed to provide NATO with six divisions.

All of these decisions, it can be shown, were reached in private by civilian appointees. They were not aired beforehand in the press. They were not debated in congress. They were, in short and in sum, executive policies covertly convenient.

It is true that the executive must, to a large degree, conduct foreign policy. This, constitutionally, is its prerogative. In these trigger-happy times decisions must be made quickly and expertly, and it is presumed that they are made on the basis of the best available information and in good will. In the process, however, close public contact has been lost by the executive. Congress has the power to declare war; it did not do so in the Korean conflict, so if it was death and taxes, still it was no war. Many of these decisions commit the United States to policies which, seemingly of necessity, teeter on the edge of war. Indeed, what policy these days does not somehow contemplate that end?

"Arms and the State," published by the Twentieth Century Fund and edited by historian Walter Millis, at any rate deserves a discerning audience.

Too much of government today is conducted in secrecy. Yet never before has government touched so many people and laid so heavy a hand upon the fortune of a whole world.

This is why news media of the United States clamor constantly for "the right to know." Without it, we resolve our destiny in the dark.

Committee Sees Need to Alter Tax Structure

From The Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce

The committee recommends a revision of Wisconsin's present tax system, because with its emphasis on the income tax, revenues fluctuate widely under various economic conditions. The state and local units of government are therefore dependent upon an unreliable source of income. Also, property taxes are the highest on record at the very same time that income taxes are also at peak yields. This is causing great concern among state and local officials.

Recent legislatures and administrations have shown no inclination to overhaul the tax structure in its entirety in spite of extensive studies of the over-all system. The highly valuable revenue sources committee recommendations were not only completely by-passed but apparently not even considered.

Church Discontinues Pew Rent

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 17, 1880.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational church and society it was voted that the pews be free during the coming year and that the revenue of the church be derived from contributions and voluntary subscriptions.

To those wishing regular seats in the church, application may be made to any of the trustees.

Dr. J. T. Reeve and C. L. Fay were reelected trustees and Theo. Johnson was reelected clerk. The Board of Trustees as now constituted includes Dr. Reeve as president; George F. Peabody, treasurer; E. C. Goff, G. W. Spaulding, A. L. Smith; C. L. Fay and W. H. Steele.

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Jan. 8, 1934

Mayor Goodland and L. M. Schindler, city engineer, left for Madison where they were to confer with Robert Johnson, CWA administrator, on the development of the Lutz park project. The plan, which involves the construction of a 925-foot retaining wall along the left side of the Fox river, was approved by the local CWA committee and unofficially approved by the war department.

Wilbur Streay, Appleton, was notified he was a prize winner in the International Canning contest at the Century of Progress in Chicago. His winning product was a can of peaches.

L. J. Sommer was installed as president of Sacred Heart society of Sacred Heart church by the Rev. F. L. Ruessmann, spiritual advisor. Other officers were John Melcher, vice president, Ed Knut, financial secretary, Joseph Hopfensperger, treasurer; Peter Whydowski, corresponding secretary, and Joseph Bloch, trustee.

William Carnot and Carl Ploetz were named to the board of trustees of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, Kaukauna. Otto Becker was elected to the school board.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Jan. 10, 1949

Edwin Schroeder, Appleton, was appointed by Mayor Robert Roemer to serve as supervisor on the county board from the tenth ward in place of Robert W. Scholl. Scholl was going to Florida.

Public Employees Flex Muscles on Strike Issue

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — A strange side-light to the political life of the state lately has been the combative attitude of the public employee unions, perhaps most dramatically illustrated in their impetuous defense of strikes in the public services.

The Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees at a delegate convention about a month ago was publicized as offering sympathetic backing to Milwaukee city government employee union locals which were then threatening a strike in the municipal service of the metropolis during some difficult wage negotiations.

At the time the news dispatches might have been brushed off as political gestures by the council delegates, most of them self-conscious officers of local themselves.

But now comes the publicity organ of the council with blaring headlines about that convention declaration, and labored editorial defenses of the right to strike by public service workers.

STRANGE

This is a puzzling development, indeed.

For there is perhaps nothing that organized governmental workers could demand in a political way that they have as little chance of winning as the public recognition of their right to strike.

To most persons, such a declaration is the equivalent of an invitation to anarchy and chaos.

Even the most disciplined adherents of the labor-liberal viewpoint, on all other public questions, flinch from the idea of strikes in the public services. It requires no great effort, even from the least imaginative, to guess the results of a tie-up in the municipal water utility, or in the fire and police department, or even in the garbage and rubbish collection service, or in the winter street maintenance crews.

Is there any serious support anywhere for the right of employees of a publicly owned hospital, or sanatorium, to leave their jobs in concert as a means of enforcing their wage or other working condition demands?

The right to organize implies the right to strike, says this union in its newspaper. But involved here is government, the public service, which is responsible to the public will and public taste. A roll call in the legislature on this point might be illustrative, and a popular referendum would surely be.

FEELING OATS?

As Wisconsin politics is divided, the labor unions won the state election. The labor organizations fought on the side of the Democrats, who won the most significant victories in this century in this state. Is this an expression of their confidence of power? If so, it may very well be embarrassing to some of labor's friends now responsible for making state policy.

"County and municipal employees are not second class citizens," asserts the Wisconsin C. C. E. Union News.

"It would be highly unfair for government to prohibit city and county employees from striking when it specifically guarantees the right to strike to employees of privately owned public utilities and other essential services."

This is a rather partial summation of history. The fact is that the Wisconsin legislature some years ago specifically outlawed utility strikes, in the public interest. That act of the legislature was invalidated by the federal courts, on technical reasons, rather than on the merits of the argument.

There is no sure way to tell, except by introducing legislation. But most of the observers of affairs at the statehouse today would bet against a public employee strike bill, even with the change in the political climate suggested by the Nov. 4 returns.

Economics of Bar Always A Problem

Charles L. Goldberg, President, State Bar of Wisconsin

The American Bar association has over the past several years made an intensive research of the economic status of lawyers. Interchange of information so gathered has been of substantial benefit, but, unfortunately, it has been found that the average income of lawyers has failed to keep pace with that of other professions.

While it is true that the average lawyer's income has increased over the past twenty years, the rate of increase has been much smaller than that of other professions. This condition has been attributed to a number of causes, such as failure to observe a fair fee schedule, unauthorized practice by laymen and corporations, encroachment upon the practice by administrative agencies, and poor office management.

While some of these problems, such as encroachment by administrative agencies, may be handled by the American Bar association, effective work can be done at the state and local level. Accordingly, I am appointing a special committee to be known as the committee on economics of the bar to study the various aspects of the problem and to make report from time to time.

It is hoped that the committee will not limit itself to an occasional revision of the fee schedule, but will concern itself with the problems above referred to. I am of the opinion that such a committee should be made a standing committee and should be continued from administration to administration. The economics of the bar is an ever present problem.

The Late Nick Bruhl was primarily a photographer, but his skill as a sculptor nearly equalled his fame as the farmer-photographer. Above, left, Carl Schmitt, Kaukauna second hand man who purchased many of Bruhl's effects, looks over a collection of some 2,000 postcards while his desk, dominated by a bust of Lincoln carved by Bruhl, is cluttered by some of the thousands of photographs Bruhl left. Below is a shot of President William Howard Taft's visit to Appleton in 1911 which Bruhl covered as a correspondent and photographer.

Late Photographer Had Many Interests

Late Nick Bruhl Remembered as Man of Varied Characteristics

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Editor

The late Nick Bruhl was a unique man; many things to many people. For many years he was a Victorian anachronism, but, paradoxically, in his day he was ahead of his time.

Nicolaus Bruhl, the fifth son and fifth child of Peter and Mary Bruhl's nine children, was a writer, a sculptor, a collector, a joiner, a sketch artist, a naturalist, a promoter, an art critic, a historian, a hail fellow well met, a recluse, a lecturer, a man who kept his own counsel, a sharp operator and a man to be duped, but above all he was a photographer with a good nose for news.

When his life ended with the old year, he left memories and friends over the wide area he traveled and something of a legend of his long life.

Effects Scattered
His personal effects, which were numerous and varied, have been scattered, partly during his last years and partly in an attempt to clear his residence last summer. The fate of these effects is certainly out of character of their owner, for Nick was a saver reluctant to part with his belongings.

The 78-year-old son of one of Sherwood's first settlers promoted himself as the "farmer-photographer" throughout his long life.

Only a cursory glance at his handiwork is needed to substantiate his photographic claim, but his place of residence was chiefly the basis for the agrarian part of the title.

Nick was well on his way to winning his national and to some extent—international recognition as a photographer by the turn of the century.

Organized Club

In 1903 he had organized the Bruhl and Power Camera club and established "The Focus," a magazine, to publish the members' works. The extent of the club is shown by the fact the first vice president was an employee of the interior department in Washington, D. C.

Bruhl started his photographic career when he was 15 when he purchased, for 65 cents, a photographic kit. He made additional equipment. His first camera was a makeshift affair with no shutter and the results, "only shadows, nothing but shadows," as he related in a 1906 edition of the "Western Camera Notes" magazine, sent him in search of better equipment.

Second Hand Camera
He purchased for $10 from the photographer in Sherwood a second hand 8 1/2 by 8 1/2 view camera with a single achlens and shutter.

He submitted a snow scene to a "Star Monthly" contest and won $2, the first of thousands of prizes.

Alfred Schumacher, Stockbridge, his guardian in his last years and administrator of his estate, said Bruhl had shirtboxes filled with ribbons and medals won with his camera.

Nearly all of his life he was able to finance his camera hobby with the winnings from contests, with prizes ranging up to $500.

He entered every contest he

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. # Phone Usage in City Reaches All Time High

Local Manager Tells Of 1958 Work, Looks To 1959 Innovation

Kaukauna — A new high in the number of phones used in Kaukauna was reached during 1958 with 3,500 customers, about 115 more than were using phones at the start of the year, according to Richard Kuehn, local manager of the Wisconsin Telephone company office.

Total expenditure to meet service needs in Kaukauna amounted to about $100,000, according to Kuehn. Increased service was reported for Little Chute, Kimberly and Combined Locks where 155 phones were installed making the total in these communities 3,450.

The annual report shows Kaukauna residents placed an average of 17,800 calls per day while the three villages showed an average of 15,070 calls per day.

Expansion Work
Facilities at both the Kaukauna and Little Chute plants were expanded during the year. One of the major projects in Kaukauna was the installation of 31,600 feet of aerial and underground cable on the northwest side of the city. About 1,000 feet of underground cable was installed along south Main street.

Cable lines were installed to meet residential and business growth in these areas. The company's current investment in telephone facilities in Kaukauna amount to about $743,000, said Kuehn.

Looking ahead to 1959 Kuehn saw the arrival of a new type phone for business and homes. The business phone is a streamlined push button type while the home phone is small and shaped much like a vanity case. Some business places are already using the push button phone but the vanity home phone will not be available in large numbers until 1960 although a few are likely to be available by late summer.

Giordana and Matchetts are tied for second with 28 1/2 records and two teams are tied for third, three games behind the leaders.

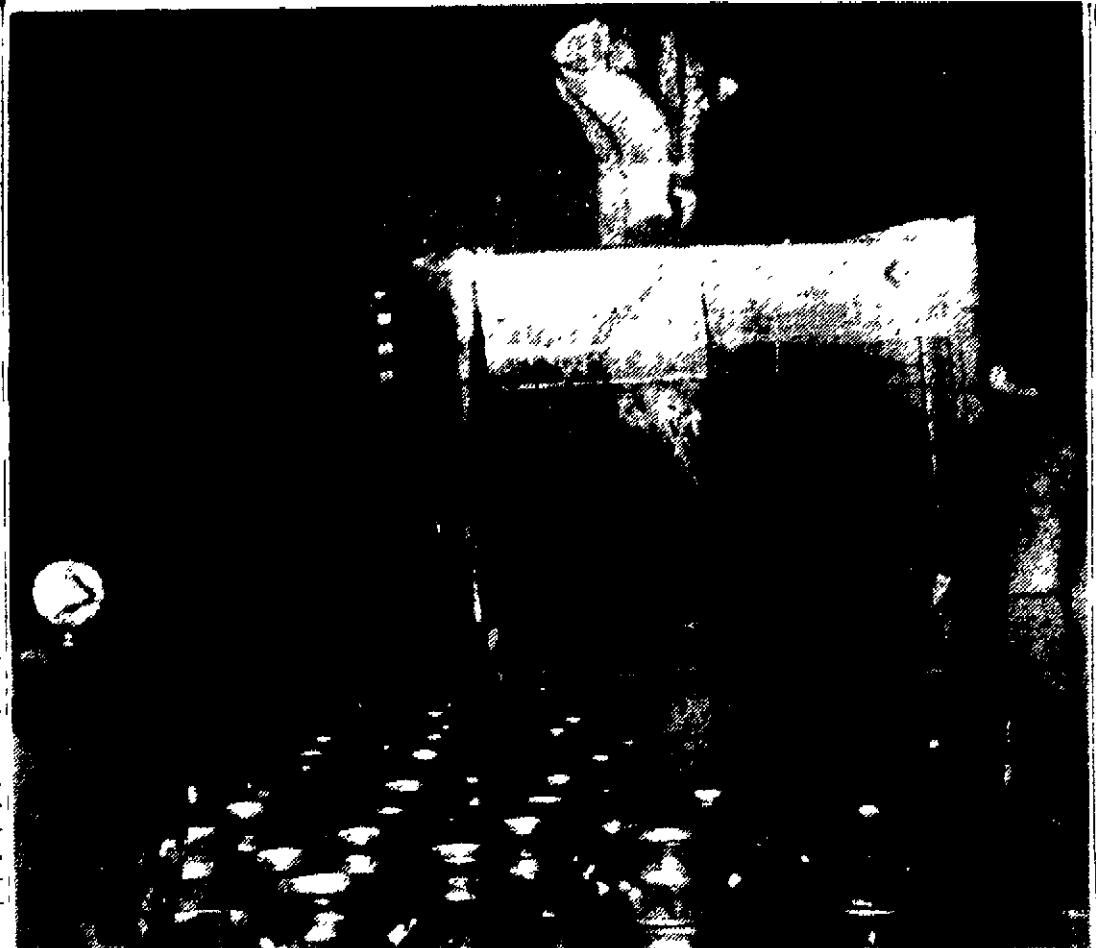

Other high scores were posted by Irene Thelen, 193; Carol Dahm, 185; Shirley Hurst, 192 and Annie Kersten, 190. Kitz Gertz cleaned the 5-10 Harriet Mitchell cleaned the 4-7-8-10 and Lois Corbelle cleaned the 4-10 split.

Kaukauna — The Methodist Men's club will sponsor a chili supper at fellowship hall from 5 to 7 p. m. Wednesday. It will be open to the public.

A Load of Milk for the White Clover dairy early this morning ended on County Trunk Q when Gerald Kersten, 23, 1415 N. Bennett street, lost control of his truck and it overturned about 1 1/2 miles east of Kaukauna. Kersten received injuries to his knee and back. County police said Kersten told them the load shifted as he rounded a curve, causing the truck to go into the ditch, then back on the highway.

Set Jan. 18 Date for Kaukauna Ice Carnival

Recreation Department Undecided on Location; Schedule Series of Events

Kaukauna—The annual ice carnival sponsored by the recreation department has tentatively been set for Jan. 18 but weather changes could force postponement of the event, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Although the event was usually staged on the library grounds ice rink because of its central location it may be necessary to hold it at the Tenth street and Main avenue rink as city crews are having difficulty keeping the library rink in good skating condition. The second rink is smooth and ideal for racing and figure skating events.

As has been the policy in previous years, racing events will be held separately for boys and girls with different age groups competing. In event of too many entries in any one category, separate heats will be run and the various winners will compete for the championship.

Besides the regular races, novelty and obstacle races will be held. Special events may also be arranged, according to Gertz. Recreational department personnel will be on hand to serve as judges for different events and will be stationed around the rink to make sure the contestants follow the proper course. Balloon races, back to back races and other novelties are planned.

Chuters Snap Losing Streak, Win 88-63

Trim St. Benedict With Hot Shooting On Field Goals

Little Chute — St. John High wheeled to its highest point total of the season and defeated St. Benedict's at Milwaukee 88 to 63 Sunday afternoon.

With the win the Chuters snapped a four game losing streak and brought their season mark up to 6-6. Thursday night the Dutchmen swung back into Fox Valley Catholic conference action playing at Marinette Central Catholic.

Scoring honors for the game went to Jack Wilder of the losers who bagged 16 field goals and six of seven free throws for 38 points. Junior guard Ady Ebben led St. John for the third straight game with 10 field goals and three tosses for 23 markers.

Grab Lead
St. John grabbed a 22 to 7 lead in the first period and was never in trouble. The Dutchmen shot well from the floor hitting 33 of 77 field goal tries. They made 22 of 38 from the free throw line.

St. Benedict scored 18 in the second period while St. John had 14 to make the score at the intermission 36 to 25.

The outcome was in little doubt after the third period when St. John scored 25 while holding St. Benedict's to only 12.

This gave the Chuters a 61 to 37 advantage and all reserves got a chance to see action in the final period.

St. John counted 27 markers in the last quarter while their foes had 28. The 88 total points for the game was the highest scored by the Chuters this season. The previous high was 71 in a losing effort against Kimberly.

Sports Club to Hear Talk on Pheasant Raising

Kaukauna — A talk on raising and releasing pheasants will highlight a meeting of the Kaukauna Rod and Gun club at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at Union hall.

Either W. A. Ozburn, manager of the state game farm at Poinette, or his assistant, George Reiser, will head the discussion. Topic will be "How to Get the Most Out of a Pheasant Program."

The Kaukauna club has been raising and releasing hundreds of birds each year but last year started expanding its program to make it possible for the club to rear and release about 1,000 birds shortly before the start of the hunting season and keeps members informed of where birds are planted.

The majority of birds raised are released on public hunting grounds or in areas where there is little danger of having land posted against hunting. The meeting will be open to members and non-members of the club.

Union Learns It's No Longer Smallest Unit

London — The 100 members of the United Wool Shawl, Fall and the Antimacassar trade union got shaken to the tips of their nimble fingers today.

They learned they are only Britain's second smallest union.

The title goes to the 71-year-old Amalgamated Society of Lace Pattern Readers, Correctors, Press and Piano Punchers. Its total membership is 15.

Said Secretary Fred Watson, 77, in his annual report: "We have been the smallest union for years, but we have never made a fuss."

The Piano punchers are skilled lace trade workers who punch intricate patterns on a piano-like keyboard.

Wool Shawl, Fall and Antimacassar workers make wool shawls, falls and antimacassars. A fall is a veil which keeps flies out of a baby's eyes.

Tribal Meeting Ends in Stalemate

Menominees Fearful of Future; Postpone Sessions to Weekend

Post-Crescent News Service

Keshena—The Menominees, meeting in an historic general council Friday and Saturday, faced the future and fearfully refused to take a necessary step.

They tried to understand the plan and the drafts of legal documents providing for their survival as a people after the end of 105 years of federal jurisdiction over their land and their lives.

One Indian said simply, "I do not know. I cannot vote for or against." Apparently he spoke for many of his fellow tribesmen.

The Indians listened to their leaders and their tribal attorneys explain the outline and the details of the plan. They took the floor to speak their minds either in English or in their native tongue.

There were appeals by fathers and mothers for the earnest consideration of the future welfare of their children and grandchildren. There were pointed questions about how their government and their forest would be operated after Washington withdraws its trusteeship.

At the end, tribal leaders moved for a recess and, it was announced, the important general council session will be resumed at 10 a. m. next Saturday in the American Legion hall here.

By mandate of congress in the Menominee Termination act of 1954 and its amendments, the tribe must be terminated by Dec. 31, 1960, and must submit a plan to Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton by Feb. 1, less than three weeks away. If the Menominees do not present their plan by the deadline, the law says the secretary shall draw his own plan and turn over tribal lands and funds to a trustee of his own choice by Feb. 1, 1960.

Chairman Velces Fear said this alternative would move termination 11 months nearer to the present. James G. Frechette, chairman of the advisory council, the tribe's local governing body, told his people before the general council recessed, "I'm as afraid as you are."

He said, "I can't see and you can't see the successful termination of this tribe without the essential things of time and education."

Plans for Future George Kenote, chairman of the tribe's special 3-man coordinating and negotiating committee on termination, said, "From the outset termination or liquidation has never been in my heart. We have tried to come up with a set of plans to control our property as far as living people can see in the future."

He said their own county would give the Menominees control over the important matters of ordinances, taxes, and access to the prime wilderness and recreational areas. He said plans for the business organization would be designed to hold the common property together, "not forever but for a reasonable time" and that the trust arrangement for minors would protect their interests.

Kenote heads the group named in January, 1956, to draw the final plan. The other members are Gordon Dickie and Al Dodge.

The plan for the future following termination of federal control over the Menominee Indian tribe was presented in general council Friday and Saturday by this group. The council meeting will be resumed next Saturday at Keshena. Seated from left to right are Atty. Donald Buzard, Milwaukee; J. Ward Rector, vice president of the First Wisconsin Trust company, Milwaukee; Atty. Glen Wilkinson, Washington, D. C.; Atty. Frederick Sammond, Milwaukee. Standing, left to right, are tribal leaders George W. Kenote, chairman of the coordinating and negotiating committee; Gordon Dickie; James A. Frechette, tribal chairman, and Al Dodge. In the back is Jerome Grignon, chairman for the general council.

They developed findings of the Menominee Indian study committee formed by the 1955 Wisconsin legislature into the final plan with the aid of legal, forestry, business and governmental specialists.

The proposed draft of the plan was drawn by the Milwaukee law firm of Fairchild, Foley and Sammond.

Main features of the plan are:

1. Two bills to be introduced in the state legislature this month to establish the new Menominee county, composed of the reservation, and a bill to set the full value for taxation purposes of the forest, operated by law on a sustained-yield basis at 40 per cent of stumpage value or $12 million.

2. The articles of incorporation and bylaws for Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the business organization to operate the tribe's forest and sawmill and to develop its recreational areas;

3. A voting trust which restricts the 3,270 enrolled tribal members from selling individual shares in the corporation for at least five years, and;

4. A minors' trust to control as a unit the shares of the 1,400 tribal members under 21 years of age, rather than placing them under individual guardianships.

Although no final action was taken on the plan Saturday, tribal members did approve three changes proposed by Mrs. Jennie Weso.

She moved without objection that the new county be named Menominee county and not Menominee Park county as in the drafted papers. A change to a majority of tribal members on both the board of directors of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., and on the corporation's voting trust also was approved.

A point of sharp discussion concerned proposed articles governing sale of land. It appeared that the board of directors is empowered to sell areas designated as forest lands without the consent of the shareholders. One speaker made it clear he wanted a firm restriction on the sale of any land, even to individual tribal members. The article on land sale is expected to be redrafted for the continued session next Saturday.

Tribal leaders also plan to present a resolution for amendment and reconsideration of the plan in the future if "substantial changes" made by the state legislature or suggested by the secretary of the interior.

Tribal leaders hope to gain approval for the resolution and a final vote on the plan Saturday.

Menominees Argue but Never Get To Organizing Their New County

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Keshena — Here in this Menominee Indian village whose name translates to "swift flying," the tribe met for deliberation on questions in which their future is entangled, but the main subject never really got off the ground.

The arguments, all translated into the soft, musical Algonquian tongue for the benefit of those who have no English, were presented so fervently, so personally, so bilingually, and so abashed of the points in question that the general council promises to reach into next Saturday and Sunday, too.

A main point on the agenda was the framework for the formation of a new Wisconsin county carved out of the 234,000-acre reservation, which would embrace the entire Indian community of 3,270. Yet the subject was touched upon only briefly. Principle point of discussions was the termination of federal supervision over the historic Menominees.

The tenor of the meeting was set, perhaps, by Mrs. Joe Deer who confessed, "I am nothing but a white person," which she is; but married to an Indian and the mother of his five children.

No Legal Voice
As a white, Mrs. Deer had no legal voice in the proceedings but she could be, and was, actively and vehemently supported by Mrs. Gertrude Richmond, a handsome Menominee of middle age. She frequently abused the council to "tear up Roberts Rules of Orders because I have the right to speak; I am an Indian. I can talk as much as I want. I will stand here forever until Mrs. Deer speaks for us."

It appeared that it was not necessary for her to do this. Mrs. Deer was granted 15 minutes.

In blue jeans, shirt and brilliant scarf, Mrs. Deer suggested a female version of Johnnie Appleseed, but she was skilled in rhetoric and she was persistent. Her avowed purpose, she said, was "to save your reservation for you." She added that she believed that "termination" could be beaten.

She spoke from notes which included interperate words as "liar," and "cheat." But she urged the council not to vote, not to be outvoted, not to be cowed nor to be sheep. "Don't vote," she said. "Sit, Sit, Sit."

And interpreter Moon Weso echoed: "Wophaonon, Wophaonon, Wophaonon."

Weso, assisted at times by Bob Deer, brother-in-law of Mrs. Joe Deer had occasion to offer apologies from time to time.

"The Menominee language is a dying language. There new words, like 'tax; which you can't say in Menominee." He apologized again when he was required to translate Algonquian words into English a speech which approached Billingsgate. "I am sorry," he said, "I do not like to say these things, but I must say as he says. I do not wish for you to think that it is me saying them."

Fiercy Speech
Fiercy and beautiful in his wrath was Earnest Neconish who roared Indian phrases staccato-like at the shuddering translator. In the peculiar eloquence of the American Indian, Neconish said he opposed termination of federal control and that he was filled with fury at white men.

"These papers that you push at me, I am tired of documents. I never wanted to see them. I am going to turn them inside out. I never had the time to tell of the high power of my thoughts. One day I will speak. I will speak of the Big Spirit. I am a Menominee and these white men are not, so I will speak."

"Some day they, the white men, will face the Big Spirit and there will be not place for them to hide. I talk, and am in close contact with the Big Spirit. I am full of truth. I have a knowledge of the wisdom that is written on paper. After while," he said as he sat down, "I will speak some more."

The translation was delivered with equal Euphony by Weso, but with less wrath. Mrs. Irene Mack, beautifully clothed in a scarlet dress and a gay hat which was plumed with a curled feather, also spoke against termination.

Not Ready Yet
"We are not ready to give up the old ways," she said. "If a man does away with his traditions and if he gives up his customs, he must be very sure that his new way is better than the old way." And this, she said, "we cannot know."

Few objectors attended to the matter on hand, although Jennie Weso summed it all up when she said: "There are many pages here in this document (which outlined the framework of the formation of the new Indian county), and we have not had time to look at it. We are still crying over things we have voted for in the past and didn't understand."

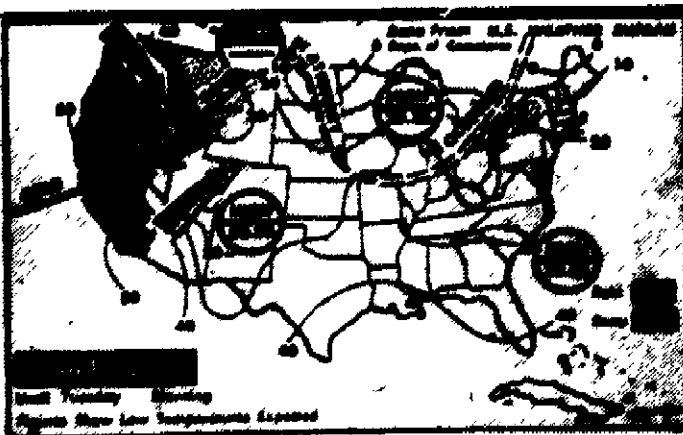

Asked Bob Deer: "What would happen if we reject the termination plan outright and said we wouldn't abide it?"

It was explained that termination has been passed by the congress of the United States and was a law; that the secretary of the Interior would be obliged to enforce termination, as he must all law in his domain.

"Do you call this white man's democracy?" asked Deer.

When Mike Grignon suggested adjournment, the meeting was over. It had been dominated by the sheer skill of Indian speech, of beautiful prose, of flashing shouts of independence; of obstinate resistance to termination. All of it was well said — but little of it was germane.

Henry Wallace Seeking Way to Improve Race

Washington —(P)— Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace proposes that comprehensive health records be maintained on each individual to help young people choose the proper marriage partner. The objective: To improve the quality of the human race. But he emphasized use of the records would be a voluntary thing. In one of his rare public appearances since his unsuccessful bid for the presidency on the Progressive party ticket in 1948, Wallace told a science meeting yesterday: "I would list diseases, the cause of death, the intellectual attainments, the abnormalities, the blood types and so forth of each person by families." Wallace, a specialist in genetics, said the idea might be more offensive to some people than a planned economy. But he added: "When it is a question of ruining gradually through surety the quality of human life, may it not be wise to furnish all the peoples of the world, generation after generation, the background information to enable intelligent young people to make free-choice the matings which will increase the genetic wealth of the planet."

Two Fined for Tippy Driving

Edmund Floor, Merlin L. Otto Lose Licenses

Neenah — Two men have been fined $100 and had their drivers' licenses revoked on charges of drunken driving. They are Edmund Floor, 40, 163 E. North Water street, Neenah, and Merlin L. Otto, 33, route 1, Neenah.

Floor also pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $15 for that charge in Neenah police court this morning.

Floor's car ran into the basement wall of the Chester Garrity house, 216 First street, Neenah, at 11:45 p. m. Sunday. The car skidded 154 feet, knocked down a "no parking" sign and struck the southeast corner of the house.

Eight concrete blocks were knocked out of the basement wall and a water pipe was broken. Neenah firemen were called as well as Wisconsin Michigan Power company crews when a faint gas odor was noticed. No leak was found.

Found at Home

Floor was found at his home nearby and was taken to The Clark hospital, where he was treated for a cut on the lip, face and left forearm. He left the car at the accident scene.

Otto pleaded innocent Dec. 1 in municipal court in Oshkosh. After his arrest by state traffic police on Highway 41 in the town of Oshkosh, Otto's attorney later entered a no contest plea in his behalf.

New Hospital Almost 'Even' Financially

$585 Loss Before Depreciation 'Far Less Than Expected'

Operations of Appleton Memorial hospital from opening date last Feb. 20 through Sept. 30 resulted in a net income from patients of $306,234. Operating expenses totaled $306,819, leaving a net loss of $585 before provision for depreciation.

Depreciation on building and equipment amounted to $24,646, leaving a net loss after depreciation of $25,231.

The figures were released after a complete audit of hospital records for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1957. The audit, made by the accounting firm of Arthur Young and company, Milwaukee, also covered the operation of the hospital association, including expenditures for building and equipment during that period. The audit is made on a fiscal rather than a calendar year basis on recommendation of the American Hospital association.

'Quite Small'

"It is felt," board members said, "that the operating loss of $585 before depreciation is quite small for the opening months of a new hospital and is far less than originally was anticipated."

The hospital reported 49.6 per cent of occupancy during the Feb. 20 to Sept. 30 period, with the average length of stay 6.5 days. Adult and child admissions totaled 1,744, with 11,019 patient days of care given. There were 460 newborns, 2,137 days of newborn care, an average newborn daily census of 9.6, with an average length of stay of 4.8 days. Newborn per cent of occupancy was 39.9.

Hospital balance sheets and operating statements are set up in three separate funds — (1) general, or operating, fund which accounts for all assets, liabilities, income and expense pertaining strictly to operation of the hospital; (2) equipment fund, a temporary fund used for purchase of special equipment, monies for which are received from individuals and organizations for that specific purpose; and (3) plant fund, which contains all land, buildings and equipment and accounts for campaign subscriptions, payments on them and the mortgage loan fund which is being paid off as subscription payments are received.

Account Assets

The audit shows assets of $122,617 in the operating fund, $1,162 in the equipment fund, and $2,381,533 in the plant fund. Plant fund assets do not include subscriptions receivable of $495,583 from the two campaigns. The board of directors said it believes those subscriptions receivable are

Youths Ordered to Pay Car Damage

Three youths have been ordered to pay for damages they caused in a wild chase Aug. 29 through Neenah. The chase was punctuated by shots and ended with police forcing the youths' stolen car to the curb.

County Judge Stanley A. Staidl placed the auto driver, 18, under supervision of the Outagamie county welfare department for a year. His record shows two stolen cars, neither of which was processed through juvenile court.

All from Appleton

The other two youths are 15 and 16. Neither has a juvenile record. All are from Appleton.

The youths stole a 1956 car from behind a store at 312 W. College avenue. The car belonged to Merle G. Krueger, 2313 N. Owassa street, and damage to it totaled $381.25.

His Car

As the youths joyrode, the auto struck a car belonging to Harold Heckel, route 3, Appleton, doing $20 damage to it. Youths in the Heckel car pursued the three youths, following them into Neenah, where police attention was attracted.

The chase took Neenah police over most of the city and several shots were fired in residential areas after the youths evaded a roadblock. The chase ended with police forcing the stolen car to a stop, doing $55.20 damage to the squad car.

The three were ordered to repay $152.15 each.

Rec Program Adequate, Report To Council Shows

Appleton's recreation facilities are adequate for the present population, with the exception of swimming facilities; those who answered a questionnaire of the recreation committee of the Community Council believe.

There were no comments on the need for a youth center. However, a civic or community center was noted as desirable to care for non-school age groups during hours when school is in session.

The committee, headed by Richard Pfefferle, distributed 150 questionnaires to organized groups in Appleton. Seventy replies were received. Many of them suggested establishing a recreation clearing house or appointing a coordinator to avoid duplication of programs.

The need to clearly define school jurisdiction and free time recreational activities of school age children was expressed.

Just to Remind You of What a woman used to look like, here are a couple of styles in the New York designers' spring preview collection. No chemises, no sacks, no waists where waists should not be. The herringbone weave at the left in gray and white silk tweed with short jacket and cropped sleeves is by Monte-Sano and Pruzan. The Luis Esteves outfit, right, interweaves black and royal blue lines on silk linen. The halter top of royal blue silk linen is backless.

Good News: Women's Fashions Back to Normal, Say Designers

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

New York — The nation's fashion press, 200 strong, learned the welcome news today that clothes are back to normal.

No more chemises, no more trapezes, no more distortions of the female figure are to be foisted on the public this spring, New York designers made plain as they opened a week of spring previews.

Male Protest

Waistlines are back where they should be, or slightly raised, skirts have enough room for walking, suits are comfortable and wearable, hemlines cover the knees, and a woman can go out and buy her 1959 Easter outfit without fear of her husband's rage—at least so far as style is concerned.

All these tidings of joy, it seems, are largely the result of a mass male protest against the grotesque fashions of the last few seasons. When husbands refuse to foot the bills for a new wardrobe, women don't buy.

It's as simple as that. And it was the furious roar of husbands from coast to coast that blasted the sack dress into oblivion, wilted the trap-eze and made it clear that modern men do not want their wives or sweethearts to look like Empress Josephine, no matter how fascinating that royal lady may have been in her day.

The Empire silhouette, which was the big news of both Paris and New York collections last fall, has been stringently modified for spring.

Belts still are often higher than normal, but when this is true the entire waistline area is defined, to leave no doubt as to the natural lines of the figure.

Suits for spring are almost universally short jacketed, with slender skirts eased through the hipline and tapered at the hem.

Jackets may be loose and straight, slightly rounded or bloused—but they are usually brief. The exception is the walking suit, with three-quarter length jacket, which can

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Experts go in for cue-bidding in a big way, usually choosing this method over the alternative Blackwood Convention, their idea being that this often gives them an extra round of bidding for safe investigation of slam chances.

However, there is considerable doubt that cue-bidding is truly superior to other slam conventions, and particularly when average players indulge in cue-bidding, the result is apt to be unfortunate. Here's a too typical illustration:

The bidding (rubber bridge):

3 H Pass 2 H Pass
4 S Pass 4 D Pass

Although North finally exercised discretion and passed short of a slam, the damage had been done. The enemy took two club tricks off the real, and declarer misguessed the trump queen and went down one.

This outcome was due entirely to North's unjustified decision to show South the spade ace. Some readers will feel that North's first response two diamonds, was at fault—that he should have bid one no trump or given a single raise in spades—but this was unimportant. The vital point was that after bidding two diamonds and then raising South's heart rebid, North had "nothing left." The spade ace was the largest part of his previous bids, and so it was redundant and dangerous to make separate announcement of that ace. North should have been quite satisfied to bid only four hearts on Round 3.

Actually, South would have been justified, or very nearly so, in jumping straight to a slam after North bid diamonds, raised hearts and then supported spades. This line of bidding could scarcely be justified without a high club honor in the North hand.

be worn as a separate short coat.

The dress-and-jacket costume is one of the most popular outfits of spring, the dress usually with natural waistline, the jacket brief and easy.

Your Problems Earth-Shaking Problem: Is Knitting Sign of Weak Mind?

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I love to knit. My husband says this is a sign of a weak mind. He claims anyone who can sit for hours and do the same thing over and over must be slightly feeble-minded. This burns me up, especially when he does some rather peculiar things and thinks nothing of it.

During the football season he had the TV turned to one game and the radio tuned in on another. He ran from the living room to the sun porch and acted excited. I knew good and well he didn't know what was going on either place.

During the elections he pulled the same stuff. When I asked him who was winning in New York he said "Vanderbilt." (He knew it was somebody with loads of money but that was all.)

I'd appreciate it if you'd say something in print about this. I'm getting fed up with his attacks on my mentality just because I like to knit — especially when his behavior is so odd. — Port Chesterette

Knitting is not a sign of a weak mind. It requires skill and can be extremely intricate. Any woman who can knit an argyle sock has my undying admiration. During the war I knit two pairs of simple G.I. socks and was positively told I could do my country a great service if I knit for the Germans.

I don't agree that your husband's behavior indicates he's unbalanced. Giving the appearance of taking in two activities at once makes him feel superior. The fact that he falls between the chairs and gets very little from either doesn't enter his mind. "Overly busy" people have hungry egos. They're interested not so much in achievement, as the illusion of efficiency created by organized confusion. With such a man, a little compliment can go a long way. Try it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please forgive me for not signing my name to this letter but there's enough trouble one fine day he told me we'd have to see each other "less" because the situation at home was getting shaky and he couldn't afford to have trouble with his family. I knew this was the end. In plain English it meant his wife and children came first. And why shouldn't they? Why was I too stupid to see it? Did you know, Ann, you can actually feel it when your heart breaks? — One Who Knows in our family as it is. How can I get it through my 14 year old's head that she should not entertain boy friends in a room with the door closed — even if they are only dancing?

She keeps telling me if I trusted her it wouldn't make any difference if the door was open or closed. How about this, Ann? Am I square? If you can give me something in the paper to show her I'd be grateful. These days parents need all the help they can get. Please hurry. — Weak Mother

Make yourself scarce and she'll be less inclined to "shut you out".

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not writing for advice — you've already advised me. But like a fool, I didn't listen. I'm writing in hopes that I can save someone else a broken heart. A married man deceived me into believing nothing could keep us apart. I made him the center of my universe. Nothing else mattered. Then heard of. Among his awards were honorable mentions in contests in Italy and France.

Late Photographer Had Many Interests

The farmer-photographer was interested in farm people and antiques. Many of his neighbors served as models and he would travel to find a proper antique for a picture.

He was more than a recorder of his surroundings, however. He attempted to do on film what Millet and Rembrandt did on canvas. His pictures, using ingenious, (for his time) lighting, produced the interplay of light and shadows in the manner of Rembrandt and he strove to romanticize the farm laborer as Millet did, even posing pictures in duplication of the master's paintings.

Gains Rapport

His chief forte, however, was in animal and children pictures. His patience and knowledge helped him get farm and house animals into exceptionally human-like poses.

His children pictures won national renown. In 1911 he advised in a camera hobby organ how to avoid being condescending to children when taking their pictures and related how he would get on the floor to play in order to achieve the proper rapport.

His knowledge of photographic techniques was complete and he grew up with the scientific progress in the field. Early in his career he was able to print pictures on growing apples.

He had noticed that a leaf, shading a portion of an apple, would leave its imprint. He placed bags over green apples and when the skin was sensitive enough he would place an exposed film on it and let the sun "print" his picture.

When he died he had a special 9 by 12-foot room for his hobby-vocation lined with equipment, negatives and pictures. Milton Schmitt, Kaukauna, obtained Bruehl's cameras from his brother, Carlton, also of Kaukauna, who purchased all of Nick's effects.

He reports that Bruehl left two postcard Graflex cameras, a smaller Graflex camera and a panoramic camera. People of Sherwood remember Bruehl as a ubiquitous cameraman at all public gatherings and news events, with his cameras hanging in a strap. High Cliff park on Sundays was a favorite spot for posing family groups in his special style.

Promoted High Cliff

High Cliff, which looms beside his home just west of Sherwood, was a special interest to Nick. He was one of the first promoters for making it a state park and he used his camera and pen to romanticize the area and its history.

He knew the area intimately and assisted the state survey of the park in 1951, pointing out the wooden bower reminder of the 1833 "free love" settlement there and tracing the numerous Indian mounds along the ledge.

His camera work on the ledge appeared in many newspapers and periodicals. He made postcards from his shots and even produced stereoptican slides.

Indian Collection

Interest in his surrounding's history led him to gather an outstanding collection of Indian relics and lore. In his last years he sold the collection piecemeal to dealers throughout the northeast.

In his role as a free lance writer and photographer, Bruehl kept many and detailed records. In his last years while he was disposing of his valuable collection and antiques, he continued to keep records, but they were woefully lacking in details.

A typical notation on the back of an envelope or on a scrap of paper would be: "Lincoln ink stand to man from Plymouth."

His other art work also reflected his interest in history, especially of the Civil war. His mother was a governess for a family in Washington, D. C., during the Lincoln administration and had met the Lincolns.

This moved Bruehl to adopt the emancipator as a special

$458 Returned From 1958 TB Campaign

Brillion — To date $458.50 has been returned for the annual tuberculosis Christmas seal drive, according to the manager, Mrs. Kenneth Behnke.

The report, as compared with 1957 sales, is larger. In 1957 a total of $422 was collected.

However, Mrs. Behnke stated reminders have been mailed this week to about 60 people who have not returned either the donation or seals. These people are urged to take care of the matter by Jan. 16.

Spring Reducing Series

If you wish to trim down by spring, now's the time to start dieting. Do it; don't postpone a start for fear of the hunger and fatigue they have watched other dieting women suffer. You have nothing to fear when you follow the advice given here—as this diet's dinner menu shows:

Tomato bouillon topped with chives, broiled salmon steak with lemon garnish, cottage cheese ring filled with chopped spinach, portion frozen melon balls, lady finger, demi-tasse.

Nothing fearful about that! How could you feel hungry after such a feast? You could not feel fatigue because the menu is constructed with a balance of foods that "feed" your health and energy. Yet, the calorie count totals only 500 — a reducing diner's approximate quota.

With the aid of nutrition and calorie charts, it is easy to pattern menus after that given. Were you to do so for a month, you would look and feel so fit that you would never wish to return to your old eating habits. Moreover, you would begin to feel the true pleasure in eating. And eating is one of life's pleasures, unless you overeat. Then, it becomes a punishment!

Meetings of Banta Groups

Officers Renamed By Benefit Unit, Credit Union

Menasha — Close to 400 persons were present for the joint party of the Banta Benefit association and the George Banta company credit union Saturday evening at the Elks club.

Credit union members re-elected those directors and a credit committee member whose term expires and the directors will meet tonight to name officers.

Re-elected were Charles Miller, William Zinke, Maurice Vanderheiden and Sylvester Gavinski as directors and Limus Pfankuch on the credit committee. The meeting marked the 25th anniversary of the Banta credit union and Ray Murphy, its first president, reviewed the progress made in 25 years. Banta Benefit association members named one new director and reelected officers and other directors. Richard Hill is the new director. Re-elected were Linus Pfankuch as president, Ray Murphy as vice president, George Stulp as secretary-treasurer and Leo Mielke, Tom Coughlin and Rufin Suess as the other directors.

Set No Date For Inquest in Traffic Death

Oshkosh — No date has been set for the inquest into the traffic death of John M. Suess, 49, 403 Cleveland street Menasha, who died of injuries Saturday morning received earlier in a two-car collision on Highway 114 in the town of Menasha, Sheriff Charles Lowry said today. However, the inquest will be held this week. The death was the first traffic fatality of 1959 in Winnebago county.

Mrs. Suess, driver of the car in which her husband was riding, still is confined at Theda Clark hospital with injuries. Judy C. Whitpan, 20, 415 Fourth street, driver of the other car in the accident, and Marvin E. Schinke, 21, 913 E. Woodland avenue, Appleton, owner of the car, were released from Theda Clark hospital Sunday.

Schinke this morning pleaded guilty in municipal court of allowing an unauthorized person to drive his car. Judge S. J. Luchsinger deferred entry of judgement until 10 a.m. Jan. 20. Miss Whitpan was driving the car without a driving license.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Trader's road with Highway 114 when the car driven by Miss Whitpan failed to make a curve on Highway 114 and smashed into the other car which was on the town road at the curve.

No Action on Relocation

Congregational Members Appoint Long-Range Group

Menasha — First Congregational church members discussed possible relocation of the church but took no positive action other than to accept the report of its long-range planning committee at the annual meeting Sunday night. Officers also were elected at the meeting.

A report by a church consultant of the Congregational denomination, invited to survey the situation by the long-range planning committee, was critical of the present church site at Broad and Milwaukee streets.

It pointed out week-day parking is critical and likely to become worse. A new location could develop a more meaningful church life through worship, training of young children and a more intimate fellowship.

YOU CAN'T "Wear Off" A Pain Or Catch In The Back

By Upton X. Furman
Chiropractor, Neenah

You can't just "wear off" a rheumatic pain nor can you expect a piece of potato stuck in your pocket to help, any more than you can expect a car frame to straighten out by itself after an accident.

Falls, lifts, or twists may cause the bones in your back to slip slightly out of place and irritate the nerves passing out between them. This is the basic cause of pains through the lower back and hips. The irritation in the nerve is always present, but the pain becomes noticeable when there is an alteration in the blood due to weather changes, colds, flu, or some infection in the body. A slight injury may also affect the already sick nerve.

Unless the bone misalignments are corrected by Chiropractic adjustments, or an accidental adjustment, the condition may progress into serious, various forms of paralysis, or some organic disturbance, even though the pain may not be present constantly to warn you.

Employees Ask For Contract

Seek Reconsideration Of Stand Based on 1940 State Ruling

Menasha — The Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission has been asked to reconsider its stand in regard to a labor contract between Twin City sewerage employees and the commission.

The request came from Robert Swanson, representative of the Wisconsin County and Municipal Employees, who, in a letter to W. H. Clifford, commission president, pointed out the attorney general's ruling, cited by the commission in rejecting an earlier labor contract, was contrary to sane public policy with respect to employment conditions.

Local 1541 of the sewerage plant originally requested a contract covering various conditions.

Members elected as deacons were Mrs. W. B. Hildebrand, Mrs. Donald Rawson, Miss Barbara Thom and Mrs. Adam Haber, the latter for a 1-year term to succeed Carl Anderson who has moved to Florida.

East Rallies for 28-21 Win In Ninth Pro Bowl Game

Gifford Selected As MVP

Los Angeles — (U) — Billy Wade, who missed the most valuable player award by a fourth-quarter pass interception, today took the blame for the West's 21-28 loss in the ninth annual Pro bowl football game.

But West Coach "Weeb" Ewbank and his fellow players don't consider the lanky Los Angeles Ram quarterback the goat of Sunday's rough and tumble battle before 72,250 Memorial coliseum fans.

"We beat ourselves through mistakes," said Ewbank, coach of the world champion Baltimore Colts.

Passes From Own 13
Wade after the East turned the interception into a field goal and later scored a game-winning touchdown.

"I knew it was risky to pass from my own 13, but I wanted to pick up some yardage and then stay on the ground," said dejected Billy.

"I threw that pass right where I wanted it," Wade said in the dressing room. "But Walt Michaels (of Cleveland) backed into it and stole it."

Moments before, Wade had marched the West 80 yards for a touchdown and a 21-16 lead in the see-saw struggle among the elite of the National Football League.

"Forget it, Bill. You did everything I asked you to do," said Ewbank. "You moved the ball on them."

After the interception, the East settled for a 25-yard field goal by Cleveland's Lou Groza.

Then, with less than three minutes to go, Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin rallied the East for a 70-yard touchdown drive.

Van Brocklin passed to Pete Retzlaff for the last 15 yards. The East added a final two points when Tom Scott tackled Hugh McElhenny in his own end zone.

Moore Runs for 37
Frank Gifford of the New York Giants, who beat out Wade for most valuable player award said, "I knew we had the plays. I was just worried about getting possession of that ball toward the finish. But our defense took it away from them and that's all we needed."

Lenny Moore of the Colts set up the first West touchdown by racing 37 yards to the one. Colt fullback Alan Ameche plunged over.

Later in the opening quarter, Gifford's 22-yard pass to Bob Schnelker of the Giants put the ball in position for Groza's first 25-yard field goal. Groza's eight points in the game was tops, incidentally, in individual scoring.

Just before the first quarter ended, Gifford passed to Giant Alex Webster, who grabbed the ball on the West 17 and raced over for the score.

The lead changed again when Wade directed the West 77 yards in 12 plays. The payoff was a pass to McElhenny of the San Francisco 49ers, who wiggled 20 yards to the end zone.

But the East, led by little Eddie LeBaron of Washington, bounced back for a touchdown and a 16-14 halftime lead. The East went 74 yards with LeBaron passing the last seven to Gern Nagler of the Chicago Cardinals.

It was the fourth victory in the nine meetings for the East.

President of Notre Dame Dodges Questions on Football

Chicago — (U) — The president of Notre Dame university, appearing on a local television program Sunday night, spoke of world relations, Africa and the space age but dodged questions on football.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh appeared a bit uneasy when interviewer Norman Ross mentioned the dismissal of football coach Terry Brennan. However, he recovered nicely.

Father Hesburgh reminded Ross their interview date was made last September, before

After Knox Coach Frank Adams had caught his breath and shaken off the tension generated by his first-place team's close-call win (72-69) over Lawrence Saturday night, he paid tribute to his adversary.

"Don Boya has done an outstanding job with this team (the Vikings)," observed Adams, "and they'll win a lot of games."

Coach Boya and his courtmen, stymied by a mushrooming, believe-it-or-not barricade of "almos," are still wondering what you have to do to win.

Ripon Shares Cellar
For the eighth time in 10 fruitless outings, the 1958-59 Vikings battled a foe virtually to the wire. Eight setbacks have been of the 6-point-or-less variety, and five of them have been squeakers of 3-or-fewer points.

While Knox was building its Midwest conference record to 7-0 (and 9-1 overall), the Vikings sagged to a 0-6 league mark. The only consolation for the Lawrentians is that arch state rival Ripon is being forced to share basement tenancy.

This condition will be changed Wednesday night when Ripon invades Alexander gym to decide which team deserts the ranks of the unvictorious.

Madison — (U) — Coach Bud Foster admitted today that Wisconsin's humdrum diet of basketball defeats has drained his Badgers of much of their confidence.

"They're drum tight," he said. "All of these losses have affected our shooting. We're not relaxed. When you get a series of injuries and are forced to play in strange positions, you tighten up a bit more."

3rd Big 10 Loss
The Badgers dropped their third straight Big Ten decision to Purdue Saturday night, 84-61, despite a 26-point spurge by Brian Kulas. It also was their sixth consecutive loss and ninth in 11 games overall.

They play Michigan at the fieldhouse tonight and then take a 3-week break for mid-year examinations.

Tonight's game will be the last for big Ray Gross, who has used up his eligibility.

Gross never was much of a scoring threat, but he gave Foster good rebounding—something the Badgers need more of.

Foster said it was too early to tell whether Dale Hackbart and Ron Steiner would be of any help. The two football stars reported for practice last week.

Something Constructive
"I haven't seen enough of either one of them to tell whether they can help us," Foster said. "They couldn't play until after the exam period anyhow. The fact that they've offered to help us is something constructive, at least."

Then, turning back to his problems of the moment, Foster commented:

"I never thought we'd get down this far, but we did. When you get licked as much as we have the last few years, it's tough to get the boys up for each game. Until our freshmen become sophomores, we're in trouble."

Foster is hoping midyear exams are kind to his freshmen — better right now than his varsity.

Fox Lutheran Nips Bethany Quint, 54-44

Seeks 3rd Straight Win Tuesday Against Howards Grove

Fox Valley Lutheran scored its second narrow cage victory of its 2-game trip to New Ulm, Minn., Saturday night—a 45-44 triumph over the Bethany quint.

The Foxes, now 6-5 on the season, get back into action Tuesday night against invading Howards Grove.

The Wisconsin visitors led during most of the first half of Saturday night's game, and were on top 25-23, at the intermission. The Foxes spurred in front, 36-29, after three periods.

Trailing, 45-40 with about 1:10 left, Bethany scored on a lay-up by Twest and then two free throws by Helland to make it 45-44 with about 30 seconds to go. The visitors managed to hold on to that slim lead.

Three players were in double figures for Fox Lutheran—Harold Bruss with 16 points, Rog Bartmann with 13 and Steve Boese with 12. The Foxes made just three of eight free throw tries and shot 32 per cent from the floor. Bethany made only six of 16 foul tries and shot 36 per cent on field goals.

Gophers, Indiana Play Tonight for Big 10 Cage Lead

Hoosiers Hand NU 1st Loss; Spartans Edge Illini, 97-96

BY JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rough-and-tumble Big Ten basketball race has conference coaches praying, mumbling and, in one case, bursting with pride.

And tonight, Minnesota Coach Ozzie Cowles probably will resort to one or more of these behavior patterns when he takes his undefeated Gophers to Indiana.

Slug It Out

Minnesota holds first place and is the only team without a conference loss. In all probability, this is true because the Gophers have played but one game—a 79-66 triumph over winless Wisconsin.

While Minnesota and Indiana (2-1) slug it out for league leadership tonight, Iowa (1-1) will be at Illinois (2-1) and Michigan (2-1) will be at Wisconsin (0-3).

The cause of the prayers, mumbles and pride was Saturday's results in which:

Michigan State edged Illinois, 97-96, at Champaign on Johnny Green's basket with 8 seconds to play; Indiana handed Northwestern its first conference loss, 76-69, at Evanston; Purdue battered Wisconsin, 84-61, at Lafayette; and Michigan edged Ohio State, 78-74, in a regionally-televized game at Ann Arbor.

MSU Coach Fordy Anderson said after the Illinois victory "Today was the first time I ever prayed for anything in an athletic contest." Then after giving Illinois the praise a winner always bestows upon a loser, Anderson added:

"I think it was our experience which made the difference. When the pressure got tough, we never lost our poise and once we got an opening towards the end, we made full use of it."

Were Mumbling

The coaches who were mumbling were Illinois' Harry Combes and Northwestern's Bill Rohr. Both teams were beaten on their home courts and both were knocked out of the league lead.

"What hurts the most," said Combes, "is that our kids fought so hard and had to lose in the last few seconds after coming back from what looked like a lost cause."

Bursting with pride was Indiana's wily Branch McCracken, whose tall Hoosiers use a fast break offense and a zone defense.

McCracken, whose Hoosiers lost four of seven pre-conference games, said:

Was Experimenting

"Early in the season I was experimenting with my young team. Now, it is to my advantage that I did that. My sophomores have played real well for me. Walt Bellamy's rebounding and defensive play was the major factor in tonight's victory."

Rohr agreed with McCracken that "Bellamy is just as good or maybe better than anyone I've seen as a rebounder. My team was flat from the start and that's what beat us."

Asked if the Indiana zone had much to do with Northwestern's loss, Rohr said:

"They could have used any defense in the book and still have beaten us tonight."

'Corky' Helmrath Slaps 593 Trio

"Corky" Helmrath smashed a 593 threesome to lead the way in the latest round of Tavern League bowling at Tahn's. One of his games was a 244.

Joe Schmidt rapped a 245 for line honors, finishing with a 500. Stella's (40-17) holds a 2 game league lead.

Other honor counts: Jack Van Vonderen 255, 573; Larry Van Roy 571; Bob Plach 570; Al Scennan 564; Dunne Kasube 552; Art Schlink 550; Pete Schultz 232.

The sophomore season, sometimes a jinx for players, proved no obstacle to the 22-year-old Brown. In 1957, the Syracuse grad gained 942 yards and scored nine touchdowns. This past season, he crashed and dashed for a total of 1,527 yards, easily disposing of the old mark of 1,143 yards set by Steven Van Burken of Philadelphia in 1949.

The remaining 4 votes were divided among 4 players—quarterback Bobby Layne of Pittsburgh; halfback Eugene Moore of Baltimore and defensive Sam Huff and Roosevelt Grier of the New York Giants.

No doubt Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers must be telling himself today, a little stretch on the bench can be a great help.

It was last Wednesday night against Chicago that Watson, exasperated at the poor play of Andy Bathgate, benched his offensive ace for the last 15 minutes of the game.

Brock Raps Packers' Streamlining Plan

Wants Club To Reorganize 'From Scratch'

Fond du Lac — Charlie Brock, a former center for the Green Bay Packers, Sunday criticized plans to streamline the National Football league club's front office.

Speaking at a Holy Name program at St. Mary church, Brock said everyone, fans and players alike, would benefit if the Packers' 13-man executive committee resigned and the club reorganized "from scratch."

"Everytime something happens," Brock said, "they've got to fire the coach. The executive committee has interfered with the coaching staff for years."

Brock indicated that the Packers Alumni association, might take some action at its next meeting Feb. 2.

"We've kept our nose out of this but we feel we should do something about it," he said.

Brock also criticized the Packers' player drafts, saying they've put too much emphasis on all-America stars whose achievements already "have gone to their heads." He said they should look to the small colleges for talent more than they do.

Brian London Favored Over Henry Cooper

By The Associated Press

Young Brian London was a slight favorite to turn back the challenge of blond Henry Cooper today in London in a defense of his British heavyweight boxing championship.

A TKO over Willie Pastrano of New Orleans moved London into the higher echelon of the heavyweight division last September. He had won his British crown by knocking out Joe Erskine in three rounds in June.

Cooper once stopped London in one round in 1956 but he has been bypassed by the youngster. He recaptured enough prestige to get the title shot by upsetting highly ranked Zora Foley of Chandler, Ariz., Oct. 13.

With Floyd Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, bidding his time about announcing his next defense, there is speculation that the London-Cooper winner might get a shot. If not a title bout, the winner might meet Ingemar Johansson for the European crown. In any event, the bout packs more than usual interest in the United States.

Lincoln, Neb. — Ira Hutchinson, a former pitcher for the old Boston Braves, Sunday was named manager of the Lincoln Chiefs for the 1959 Three-I League baseball season.

Hutchinson managed Davenport, Iowa, last year. Lincoln is a new entry in the loop.

Madison Junior High edged Wilson, 17-15, last week for its first win in three Eighth Grade City league tries.

The loss was Wilson's second in three starts. Roosevelt leads the circuit with 2-0.

Pete Waller, of the winners, and Dick Bunn, of Wilson, each scored 10 points.

In the seventh grade game, Wilson thumped Madison, 26-2, as Brian Rock led the way. Wilson now has a 2-1 record, compared to Madison's 0-3.

In opening second round activity the Dots stopped the Rockets, 28-25. Barbara Pfefferle tossed in 12 markers for the Dots and Dorothy Schmidt, 17, for the Rockets.

The Capitalists trimmed the Falcons, 23-22. Andy Polisky was the Falcons' high point-maker with 12 tallies. Nancy McGuire whipped home 10 for the Capitalists.

Eau Claire — Billy Olson of Eau Claire, soared 194 and 192 feet Sunday to win senior honors in the Eau Claire Ski club tournament on Hendrickson hill before 7,000 fans.

Olson, former national collegiate area champion and Olympic team member, collected a total of 228.8 points. He also won the title of most graceful rider with 109.5 form points.

Ted Lahner, also of Eau Claire, was runnerup on leaps of 197 and 194 feet for 226.4 points.

St. Louis — "Red" Schoendienst probably will not play for the Milwaukee Braves this year, but two club officials are to visit the veteran second baseman today to negotiate a contract.

Schoendienst has tuberculosis. He has been a patient at Mount St. Rose hospital for two months.

Executive Vice President "Birdie" Tebbetts and General Manager John Quinn of the Braves are to meet with Schoendienst.

"It is pretty safe to assume," said Tebbetts, "it will be a very fair contract. We are going to negotiate it on the basis that Red is going to play next season, just as if we are sitting in his own home."

Tebbetts and Quinn also will get a report on Schoendienst's condition.

Auburn Bags 21st Straight Cage Victory

Drops Florida, 63-54, for 10th In Row This Year

By The Associated Press

Except for the NCAA, no one is stopping Auburn these days as its football and basketball teams continue rolling up concurrent streaks unmatched in collegiate history.

Plenty of football teams have had longer unbeaten streaks than Auburn's 24. A bundle of basketballers have won more than 21 in a row, the current status of Auburn's winning streak.

But no one has ever dominated both major sports at the same time the way the Tigers are now.

The basketball Tigers, who bagged their tenth straight of the season, 63-54, over Florida Saturday night, and St. Bonaventure (8-0) of Olean, N.Y., are the only major unbeaten in college basketball today.

Both Auburn teams, however, have been shooting only for poll and conference recognition because the NCAA has tagged Auburn with probation through 1961 for football recruiting irregularities.

Swinging into another week of conference activity, here's the way the major races look:

SEC — Auburn (3-0) on top, with surprising Georgia (3-1) second after an 80-79 upset of Alabama last Saturday. Kentucky, top-ranked nationally, is 2-1 with Mississippi State.

Atlantic Coast — National powers North Carolina State (5-0) and North Carolina (4-0) running one-two. Maryland second-place Barley (2-1).

Southern — West Virginia (5-0) threatened by Virginia Tech (3-0) and William & Mary (5-1). The Mounties play W&M Tuesday.

Big Eight — Favored Kansas State tied with Kansas and Oklahoma at 2-0.

Ivy League — Dartmouth and Princeton both 3-0.

Pacific Coast — California and Southern California both 3-1. Stanford and UCLA a half game behind.

Atlantic Coast — National powers North Carolina State (5-0) and North Carolina (4-0) lead.

Missouri Valley — Cincinnati (3-0) leads second-place Bradley (2-1).

Don Leahy Again Rejects 'Liz' Offer

Omaha — Don Leahy, former Marquette university football star, Sunday turned down the third offer of a job by Lisle "Liz" Blackburn, his old coach.

Now coach at Creighton High school here, Leahy would remain in the prep coaching field. Blackburn, who returned recently to Marquette after a 5-year lapse, had offered Leahy the post of backfield coach.

Leahy turned down the Warrior frosh job in 1952 and declined to join Blackburn as a coach with the Green Bay Packers professional club in 1954.

"In my opinion," Leahy said, "this closes the door on college coaching for me — a fact that I am quite willing to accept. I feel I have the finest high school coaching job available."

One stroke behind were Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., with rounds of 69-67-70-206, and 23-year-old John McMullin of Alameda, Calif., with 66-69-71-206.

Within striking distance for the $2,800 winner's prize were three pros at 207, Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., Mike Sochak of Grossinger, N. Y., and Mike Fetchick, Yonkers, N. Y.

Bolt made Sunday's tour in 34-37-71. Vossler, whose only major victory was in the Kansas City open last year, played it 35-36.

St. Mary '5' Jolts Pacelli Frosh, 58-39

The St. Mary of Appleton freshmen basketball team got back on the winning track Sunday night with a 58-39 trouncing of a strong Stevens Point Pacelli frosh club here.

St. Mary, which is now 12-2 on the season, had lost to Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, 39-29, earlier in the week.

Sunday, hot-shooting Paul Zeegers poured in 21 points against Pacelli as St. Mary was in control throughout. He got good scoring assistance from Chuck Lueck (13 points) and Bill Dedeker who turned in a nice floor game.

St. Mary next meets St. Mary Springs of Fond du Lac at 6:30 Sunday night.

Seggelink Scores 20 as Stout Falls To Eau Claire

By The Associated Press

Gerald Kruschke, fouled as the final horn sounded, sank a free throw Saturday night that enabled Platteville to defeat Whitewater, 64-63, and remain unbeaten in Wisconsin State College conference basketball play.

In other games University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee downed Stevens Point, 101-82, Eau Claire took Stout, 85-78, and Superior took River Falls, 73-60. La Crosse, unbeaten in two league starts, was idle and Oshkosh fell before Northern Michigan, 74-51, in a non-conference tilt.

UW-M built up a 63-39 lead at the intermission but had to fight off a Pointer rally in the later stages. Ken Zach led the winners with 23 points while Jim Marko and Vern Luebstorf had 22 each for the Pointers.

Eau Claire increased a 38-35 halftime edge to as much as 15 points before Stout trimmed the margin. Neenah's Fred Seggelink of Stout was high with 20 points. Jim Wenzel had 19 for Eau Claire.

Lawrence's "Chuck" Knoke, high scorer of Saturday night's Vike-Knox basketball game gets away a shot before defender Dick Pierson can stop him. Knox players in the background are Dan Littell (43) and Gary Hoopes (41). Knox won, 72-69.

ing regulars from a co-championship team, never had a rougher time winning than they did Saturday.

A large crowd cheered as the Vikes outscored their foes, defended aggressively, shot free throws at a 77.3 rate and hammered at the hoop relentlessly from the field.

The Vikes winged 25 more shots basketward than the Siwashers but were successful on only 31.7 per cent of their 82 tries. Knox fired away with 47.3 per cent sureness (27-for-57).

The difference in the percentages—and in the outcome of the game itself—lay in the type of shots the combatants were able to set up. The smooth-passing, fast-breaking Siwashers—drawing on their superior experience and speed—scored 13 times from underneath the basket.

At Long Range

Lawrence, meanwhile, was kept at long range by a modified zone and managed only five lay-up or rebound goals.

However, the Vikes' "Chuck" Knoke, Jim Rasmussen and Joe Lamers zeroed in often enough from medium and long range to keep the outcome in doubt to the final minute.

Lawrence led for the first 5½ minutes of the game, found tween them they accounted directly for seven of the 21 goals and had a hand in eight others. The forward line combination of Mayasich, Dougherty and Jim Trombley completely dominated the ice.

Not that they were the whole show by any means. Fired by their example, the entire Bobcat club played slashing hockey.

The electrifying Cats almost blasted the unsuspecting Calumet Radars off the rink Sunday. At no time after the first three minutes was there any question of the outcome as the locals poured through the game but outclassed invaders.

Three Bobcats—Dougherty, Dick Dier and Andy Clorica—turned the classic "hat trick," registering three goals apiece. Mayasich didn't score any, but his uncanny play-making skill saw him contributing to almost half the Bobcat total with six assists.

Score Early

The game was less than 30 seconds old when he and Dougherty lit the green light, and with only 3:47 gone the cats were off and running on a 3-0 lead. It was 5-0 before the Radars broke through early in the second period and 8-2 going into the final session.

Final Sizzler

The last period was a sizzler as the Bobcats added five more and the Radars managed to salvage some pride with three—one of which came as the final buzzer sounded.

Saturday night's contest before the first complete sellout in the Bobcats' short history was a free-swinging donnybrook that saw an hour and six minutes in penalties meted out in the last 40 minutes of play.

The Bobcats jumped to a 2-1 lead in the first three minutes and were never headed, but the match was a lot tighter than the final score. The Canadians were always dangerous, and the huge crowd couldn't relax until Cliff Butler restored a 3-goal bulge with only 28 seconds remaining.

After the 'Cats opening spurge the Esquires threw up one of the finest defenses shown here all season, while their goalie, Gene Diette, came through with some sparkling stops.

Explosive Quality

The Esquires showed their explosive quality in the final period when they struck back from a 6-2 deficit with two goals in less than 10 seconds to remain in contention.

All told, the three officials thumbed eight irate opponents into stir for trading punches. Dick Dier was the leading villain with three major penalties totaling 20 minutes, two for fighting and one for misconduct growing out of a general melee that put four men in the penalty box.

Despite Sunday's victory, the Bobcats slipped into a tie with Marquette for second place as the Soo Indians swept a pair with Portage Lake to take a 2-point lead.

Marquette remained knotted with the Bobcats by crushing Calumet, 7-2, Saturday night.

Rockets Triumph, 4-1

The Rockets tipped Countryside, 4-1, in the Major Boys Hockey league at Jones park Thursday night.

The winners' goals were scored by four different players.

Lakers Study Possibility of Franchise Shift

13,562 Frisco Fans See Celtics Nip Minneapolis

San Francisco — President Robert Short of the Minneapolis Lakers sees a "good possibility" of his pro basketball team moving to San Francisco for next season's play.

Still, he isn't quite ready to rule out remaining in Minnesota and also considers Los Angeles, Houston and Seattle as sites for a new home for his National Basketball association club.

San Francisco put up a mighty enticing argument 13,562 fans paying a gross of $31,400 to see the Boston Celtics nip the Lakers, 109-106, in an overtime NBA thriller.

Boston's Bob Cousy dropped in two free throws with two seconds left in the regulation game to knot the count at 99-99 and in the overtime, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos drove in for field goals that meant the victory.

Lead Celtics

Tom Heinsohn and Bill Sharman led the Celtics with 26 points apiece while Dick Garmaker paced the Lakers with 20.

"There is a good possibility that we will move to San Francisco next year," Short asserted. "The only way of the NBA coming to the coast at this time, as I see it, would be to move existing franchises. With half of the teams in the league not doing as well as they might, I don't believe it will expand. I don't say that in five or six years it might not expand."

Asked which teams he meant, Short listed the Lakers, Cincinnati, Detroit and Syracuse.

The league meets Jan. 22 in Detroit to discuss possible expansion or movement of existing franchises.

"Our franchise is not for sale," Short declared. "We will either stay where we are or move with it."

The St. Louis' Bob Pettit did his share of newsmaking this weekend too, but it was by scoring 50 points Sunday as the Hawks topped Detroit, 111-100. It was the highest individual total this season.

College Freshman Sets World Indoor High Jump Mark

Boston — A world indoor high jumping record isn't bad for a 17-year-old college freshman who has a flaw in his form.

John Thomas of Cambridge and Boston university bettered the world mark with a leap of 6 feet, 11 inches Saturday in a dual meet with Dartmouth at Hanover, N.H.

The previous mark was 6 feet, 10½ inches by Ed Meisner of Marquette in Chicago stadium in 1952.

"John still has one major flaw in his jumping form," says BU assistant track coach Ed Flanagan. "He kicks out, toward the bar, instead of kicking directly over his head as he should."

Lawrence Says: Ike Severe in Indictment of Communists

But Statement That You Can't Trust Reds Made Few Headlines

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The most sensational section of President Eisenhower's address to congress last Friday seems not to have made the big headlines in many newspapers in this region. Yet the fact that he said what he did, particularly while Anastas Mikoyan is in this country, can hardly be without considerable significance, especially to the men in the Kremlin — if they really care to learn what is actually blocking a Soviet-American understanding today.

For the president's statement was perhaps the strongest declaration about the Soviet union made by any president of the United States since the close of World War II. Here are Eisenhower's exact words:

"We cannot build peace through desire alone. Moreover, we have learned the bitter lesson that international agreements, historically considered by us as sacred, are regarded in communist doctrine and in practice to be mere scraps of paper. The most recent proof of their disdain of international obligations, solemnly undertaken, is their announced intention to abandon their responsibilities respecting Berlin."

"As a consequence, we can have no confidence in any treaty to which communists are a party except where such a treaty provides with itself for self-enforcing mechanisms. Indeed, the demonstrated disregard of the communists of their own pledges is one of the greatest obstacles to success in substituting the rule of law for rule by force."

Severe Indictment

This is the most severe indictment of the communists that any western government has made in recent years. On top of it has just come nevertheless a grandiose proposal from Moscow that "peace talks" over the Berlin issue be held with the 28 governments allied in the last war.

President Eisenhower realizes, of course, that the United States, to satisfy world opinion, must exhibit a constant willingness to talk. He adds, therefore, in his message:

"Yet, step by step, we must strengthen the institutions of peace — a peace that rests upon justice — a peace that depends upon a deep knowledge and clear understanding by all peoples, including our

Longer Fences Eyed For Goodland Field

City Recreation Commission Seeks Estimate of Cost

The Fox Cities Foxes and the rest of the Three-I league will be shooting at longer fences this season at Goodland field if the recreation commission finds the price is right for moving four light poles.

Hitters looked 315 feet down the foul line and 357 feet to center field last season. The pole-moving would give them 10 more feet down the lines and 43 more in center.

Ray McClone, Foxes' president, told the commission Friday that the 70-foot, nearly 20-year-old poles probably would have to be replaced.

Wisconsin Michigan Power company officials, however, said it may be possible to trim away rotted wood and hold up the old poles, after moving, with a new support device that clamps in place beside them.

$1,500 in Budget

At November budget sessions, it was said the project would cost about $3,592. Officials of electrical firms now put the cost at about $2,500 and the power company believes it may be done for less. The commission has $1,500 in its budget, an amount which was to have been matched yearly until there was enough money.

Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover and power company officials were asked to get more firm cost estimate.

McClone's two other requests, involving sewers and a special segregated area for children at the field, were turned down for lack of money.

Exactly what the sewer request was all about is not clear, but it was said City Plumbing Inspector Reginald Gloudemans complained about something last year.

Materials Promised

The segregated children's area would have required construction of a small concession stand and lavatories along the third base line for children. A section of bleachers would have been roped off so children could be admitted free and kept in one place, McClone said.

McClone said he would furnish all building materials if the commission would do the work.

The commission will hold a special meeting to decide on a 1959 contract for the club.

The ball club contract last season produced $1,766.12. Commissioners said they were led to believe they would get about $4,500 if the club broke even and newspaper accounts say the club did break even.

Concessions, Difference

It was explained that club officials meant the city would get $4,500 if the attendance revenue was as expected. It wasn't, but the concessions more than made up the difference. The contract provides the city nothing from the concessions.

Commissioners reported they have no idea how much

Golfers Form Muni Greens Committee

Reid Association To Push for Fence On Carpenter Street

Appleton Municipal Golf association will form a 4 or 6-man greens committee at Reid Municipal Golf course, Laymon B. Wonsler, president, and the park board have agreed.

Wonsler made the suggestion, he said, because the association feels there is a need for a "contact committee" to offer suggestions to the board for improvement.

One big question, he said, is what to do about protecting the $20,000 to $25,000 individual greens from children.

Last fall, he said, one of the greens was kicked full of heel prints.

S. Carpenter Fence

The association, including golfers from out-of-city who help pay the golf course's way, will petition for a fence along S. Carpenter street, he said.

The fence has been sought several times in recent years to keep children off the course, but has been fought successfully each time by S. Carpenter residents.

Wonsler told the park board the association was more than satisfied with Don Bartel, first-year pro at the course last season. Bartel, he said, particularly was effective in upgrading women's course etiquette and in instituting more lessons for women and youth.

A cabinet to house two permanent trophies, for the city and Adler Brau open tournaments, are needed. The permanent trophies, Wonsler said, were donated for the first time this year by Brettschneider Furniture company and the George Walter Brewing company.

Temple's Director Of Athletics Set to Retire

Philadelphia — (AP) — Josh Cody, who will retire in June as Temple university's athletic director, said today the class of competition in collegiate athletics now is better than it was 30 years ago.

"Look at the track records today," the widely-known college coach said. "Look at football. Practically every school has a good coach — even the kid teams."

Cody said it was hard for him to end a career that spanned 32 years as a coach and was one of the most varied in sports. He has coached football, basketball and baseball.

Temple announced Sunday that Cody, a native of Franklin, Tenn., will retire in June when he reaches the age of 67, as required by university regulations.

Cody earned 13 letters in football, basketball, baseball and track as an undergraduate at Vanderbilt.

Insurance Helps in High Hospital Bills

BY SYLVIA PORTER

At least one out of 10 of us will become a bed patient needing medical care in 1959 — any one of us is a potential hospital case.

If you do become a hospital patient this year and if you don't have adequate insurance against the soaring costs, you'll find the psychic shock of the bills to your pocketbook nerve almost as great as the physical shock of an operation to your body.

For the cost of medical care has been skyrocketing in the last few years, has risen far more than the overall cost of living. Measured by the official consumer price index, the cost of living has increased about 23 per cent since 1947-49. Simultaneously, the cost of medical care has jumped 44 per cent.

Hospital room rates have more than doubled. General practitioners' fees have climbed 39 per cent. Dentists' fees have gone up 34 per cent. Surgeons' fees have risen 26 per cent.

Up Much More Only the pace of the rise in transportation costs has topped the pace of the rise in medical care expenses. The cost of medical care has gone up much more than the cost of food, housing, apparel, etc.

If you have not been ill recently or had an enforced rest in the hospital, you may regard yourself, as the federal reserve bank of Philadelphia puts it in a superb study of medical costs and the value of health insurance, "a superman — perpetual strength in perpetual motion."

But even if you have escaped the misfortune of a hospital illness, you surely are aware of the zooming costs of one and, although you agree with the Philadelphia reserve bank that "health isn't free," you surely have grumbled a few "why" about the bills.

Here, therefore, are a few of the "whys":

Hospital costs have been ballooning because salary and wage levels have been rising, and hospitals must compete with industrial and commercial concerns to get the employe skills and talents they need.

Expenses Increase Hospital costs have been zooming because their own housekeeping expenses have been increasing. As improvements in diagnosis and treatments have shortened the average stay of a patient, the average per day cost of handling a patient has gone up. The higher turnover in patients increases a hospital's overhead, and the hospital's patients pay that overhead.

Hospital costs have been climbing because our rapidly growing population is using more hospital services than ever before. Today the annual admission rate to hospitals is 12 per cent of our total population against 8 per cent a generation ago.

Hospital costs have been rising because hospitals are offering more services than ever before—more diagnostic and treatment services, more private and semi-private accommodations, more out-patient service—and it costs money to perform all these new and expanded functions.

And actually, none of the statistics I've quoted tells the whole tale. For the official medical care index measures price changes only of the same quantity and quality of items bought by city families in 1947-49—and we're not buying the same quantity and quality of medical care as a decade ago. A patient may pay hundreds of dollars just for the use of a life-saving machine that wasn't even in existence in 1949.

Again, to quote the Philadelphia bank, "You can't pay bills with index numbers—and although I can't prove it, I'm positive the rise in the cost of medical care averages out to a lot higher than 44 per cent."

Not Ending What's more, there are no signs whatsoever that the rising trend is ending. And even if it were ending—and all our hospitals were modernized, adequately staffed, completely efficient—the size of a typical hospital bill to a typical American family would be a shock.

The answer, then? The answer is, of course, health insurance. Right now, about 70 million people own insurance policies protecting them against hospital expenses. Right now, about 55 million subscribe to more than 80 Blue Cross plans operating through the nation and in 1957, Blue Cross paid about $1 billion in hospital bills.

But, while this represents great progress over the conditions of past decades, there still are immense gaps in the insurance, there still are millions utterly without protection, there still are a few who can financially survive a catastrophic physical illness.

It is against this background that the demand is persisting that congress help by developing what the Democratic advisory council called for only a month ago—a comprehensive health insurance program.

North Central Gets Financing For Convoirs

First of New Crafts
Delivered; to Begin
Service About June 1

Arthur E. A. Mueller, North Central Airlines board chairman, has announced completion of a $4,340,000 financing program for purchase of five Convair 340 aircraft and for other corporate purposes.

At the same time, Hal N. Carr, airline president, said the Minneapolis-based airline tentative plans announced last has accepted delivery of the first of the five 44-passenger, pressurized Convoirs.

Mueller said borrowing will involve two loans. The first is a $2 million working capital loan for 31 years at 5 1/2 per cent interest. The other is a $2,340,000 equipment loan for purchase of the Convoirs and spare parts. The equipment loan is for seven years at 5.18 per cent interest. Both will be shared equally by Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis and Irving Trust Company of New York.

Change In Plans

Mueller also announced the civil aeronautics board has approved government guarantee of 90 per cent of the $2,340,000 equipment loan under the guaranteed loan program passed by congress last year.

The financing differs from the tentative plans announced last

July in that it involves a straight bank loan rather than sale of equipment trust certificates.

Share Prices Again Higher

Ticker Tape Falls
Behind During First
Hour of Trading

New York — The stock market mounted a strong early push further into record high ground today, recording reduced many of the gains early this afternoon.

First hour volume was over a million shares with the ticker tape late for 42 minutes, falling 4 minutes behind floor transactions at worst.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

The industrial section of the market was up moderately. Building materials, electronics, tobacco and airlines were mixed. Steel remained irregularly higher. Nonferrous metals were generally ahead.

Inland Steel made a 5-point leap and Acme Steel rose 3 points at the opening. Acme pared a fraction from the rise.

Gains of about a point were held by Woolworth, Phelps Dodge and American Tobacco.

Fractionally higher were Bethlehem, U.S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Philco, International Nickel, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Santa Fe, American Airlines, Lorillard and Pfizer.

Du Pont was off about a point. American Telephone erased an early gain and was fractionally lower. The big three motors eased and American Motors was down a fraction. Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton, Avco, Anaconda and U. S. Gypsum were moderate gainers.

U. S. government bonds were mostly firm.

Relocated 41 Plans Bring Industrial Wail

Factory Owners in Racine-Kenosha Say
Own Road Needed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The construction of the costly new super-highways on routes comfortably removed from urban centers for the convenience of through traffic may be a hindrance to the industrial development of some communities.

The new perspective on highway planning is being offered here in the complaints of the Racine-Kenosha community about the relocation of Highway 41 as a part of the new federal interstate road system to link the Milwaukee and Chicago metropolitan markets.

The new road will be about

14 miles west of the corporate limits of Racine and Kenosha, a fact which is bringing wails of protest from industrialists and others there who claim that they need a major service road between their communities and Chicago and Milwaukee that is nearer their factories.

Committee Puzzled
The legislative interim committee on highways, which has been instructed by the legislature to study the southeastern Wisconsin problem, was plainly puzzled by the complaint.

To urge the construction of a parallel "industrial service route", as the Racine-Kenosha delegations demanded, would clearly be a precedent that would be noted by the many other industrial districts of the state.

As Assemblyman Jerome Quinn of Green Bay put it: "If Racine and Kenosha must have a new road of this kind, I want to remind you about the needs of northeastern Wisconsin."

The committee finally decided on a non-committal course.

A subcommittee of its members, according to the decision, will confer with the highway commission to "study the matter further."

(The new Highway 41 south of Milwaukee is being built at a cost approaching a million dollars a mile. A parallel route to serve industries, taking into account costly land acquisition, might run to $750,000 a mile in cost.)

Heirs Get $390,000
From Stock Bought
In '38 for $4,800

Atlantic City, N.J. — Back in 1938, druggist Harry B. Leeds purchased 40 shares of stock in the Smith, Kline and French Drug company for $4,800.

He died some years later, and the stock went to his widow, Harriet, who died a year ago without leaving a will.

The Atlantic county court approved an accounting of Mrs. Leeds' estate Thursday and listed the value of the stock at $477,000.

After deductions for tax and fees, the court allowed $390,773.73 for distribution to Mrs. Leeds' descendants.

It Was Fine Flying Weather in the Fox Cities area

Russians Likely to Return Manned Rocket Soon

Washington — The Russians probably will soon announce the successful return of a human passenger from a rocket flight, a report issued by the space committee has predicted.

On the United States side of the space timetable, a missile expert says four unmanned interplanetary shots are planned this year.

The Rand corporation, which does space research for the air force, made the forecast about the Russian flight. A broad study Rand completed for the house committee was made public last night.

In issuing the 252-page document as a "space handbook," the committee under house majority leader John McCormack (D-Mass.) called it the most comprehensive work of its kind for laymen.

The report said American intercontinental ballistic missile rockets can be adapted to attempt manned flight probably within less than five

Facing Life

New Brunswick, N. J. — Mrs. Karl Hunt makes faces — for a living.

The faces are paper and paste masks which the young housewife turns out for as much as $250 each for television and movies. She began making them — mostly of public or fictional figures — after studying Greek and Roman theatrical masks in school.

years. It added the Russians will have as much or greater rocket capability in this period.

Son of FDR, GOP Unit on Good Terms

New York — John A. Roosevelt and the Manhattan Republican organization, once at odds, are now on friendly terms.

The Republican son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt has accepted an offer to serve on this year's $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner committee of the organization.

It was not always thus.

In 1957, the late Thomas J. Curran, then GOP county chairman, went to court to force Roosevelt to remove the word "Republican" from the title of an organization he had formed. Curran won. The Metropolitan Republican club became the Metropolitan Political club.

Curran was Roosevelt's main target in the insurgent move.

Bernard Newman, who succeeded Curran as chairman, said yesterday Roosevelt was helping to get a big turnout for this year's Lincoln Day dinner.

"We welcome all good Republicans," Newman said. "As far as we are concerned there is a light in the window and all good Republicans, including John A. Roosevelt, are welcome."
